Snowstorms Rip Coastal States; High Tides, Winds Add to Havoc

Politics, Say Democrats

Brownell Opens Up Drive on Red Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration has swung behind the Communists-in-government issue with a bang, in a move Democrats described as an effort to offset Republican defeats at the polls.

In Chicago yesterday Atty Gen Brownell asserted that former President Truman promoted the late Harry Dexter White in government after the FBI had notified the White House that White was a Soviet spy.

New Offensive

The charge, bitterly denied by Truman, apparently was the first move of a new ministration political offensive.

Brownell's action was approved in advance by Eisenhower and followed by only two days a declaration by Sen. McCarty (R-Wis) that Republicans could blame their election defeats on failure to talk about Communists in government.

Within two hours after Brownell's speech was released yesterday, Rep Simpson (R-Pa) was saying in a mimeographed statement that the Eisenhower administration will urge "still more intensive efforts" by McCarthy and the House Un-American Activities Committee to uncover Communist infiltration into government.

Simpson, who heads the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, said Brownell's statement had "further vindicated" McCarthy's position.

'New Low' Says Democrat

Rep Moulder (D-Mo), a member of the Un-American Activities Committee, accused Republicans of "stooping to a new low in politics."

"The Republicans have nothing to show the American people insofar as their own record of accomplishments is concerned so they are resorting to McCarthy tactics," Moulder declared.

Truman said in Kansas City he didn't recall the two FBI reports Brownell claimed were handed to Maj. Gen Harry Vaughan, who was Truman's military aide. Vaughan said in Alexandria, Va., that he "certainly never received any such report" adding that Brownell "seems to be stretching his imagination."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said shortly after Brownell's speech that Vaughan will be called before the Senate internal security subcommittee next Thursday for questioning behind closed doors.

The committee said in a report last August that a Nov. 25, 1945, intelligence memorandum, in which onetime Communist courier Elizabeth Bentley was quoted as

Negotiations On Deadlock in Korea Started

PANMUNJOM (AP)—United States and Communist staff advisers today began secret negotiations aimed at breaking a deadlock which imperils the start of a Korean peace conference.

Two Allied and two Communist advisers conferred for an hour and 40 minutes and agreed to meet again Monday.

Kenneth Young, named by U S envoy Arthur Dean for the lower level talks said after the meeting, "Both sides agreed that until we can report to our representatives we will remain noncommittal in public."

But the South Korean government, which Friday night attacked the secret meetings at Panmunjom, was assured of full information on the sessions from Col. Lee Soo Young, who will attend as an observer.

Dean and the top Red diplomats Friday agreed to turn over the dispute on an agenda to the staff advisers for attempted solution.

Dean said he felt advisers might be able to succeed in an informal atmosphere where the higher level delegates had failed because there was no "give and take."

In the two-year armistice talks, the Communists often yielded on thorny issues when the negotiations were dropped to a staff level and shielded from public view.

The controversy dropped in the laps of the staff workers involves an agenda for preliminary talks called to arrange the already delayed Korean peace conference.

Waves Force Hundreds To Leave Homes

Long Island Pounded By Gale; Motorists Stalled on Highways

NEW YORK (AP)—Flood tides added havoc today to a furious pre-winter snowstorm that took at least five lives and stirred fears for the safety of more than 20 other persons in the northeast.

Waves crashing inland forced evacuation of some 20,000 homes on the south shore of Long Island and on Staten Island.

Automobiles Stranded

Hundreds of automobiles, many with women and children among the motorists, were stranded throughout the night by snow and icy conditions on Rt. 17 north of Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Winds up to 68 miles an hour knocked down power lines and cut off electricity to about 50,000 homes on Long Island.

The storm dumped up to two feet of snow in upstate New York and 3.7 inches in New York City. Winds in the city ranged up to 60 miles an hour.

Ferryboat service between Manhattan and Staten Island and New Jersey was suspended when the high running tide made docking unsafe. Two passenger laden ferries, unable to dock, bucked the wind in the harbor for hours.

Water cut across a causeway and isolated Long Beach, N. Y., from the Long Island mainland.

Flights Canceled

Airlines canceled flights in wholesale lots. Some flights, scheduled to take off from Idlewild Airport, where some offices were flooded, were transferred to Newark, N. J., Airport.

Police were unable to break through to the stranded automobiles along a lonely six mile stretch north of Tuxedo Park until after dawn.

Five sailors were killed and one seriously injured early today when [illegible] their car collided with a trailer truck near Mt. Holly, N. J., on the New Jersey Turnpike. Speed limits on the superhighway had been reduced from 60 to 35 miles per hour because of the storm.

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard was busy coping with the distress calls rising from heavy and stormy seas.

Coast Guard cutters strove to reach two commercial fishing boats, with 10 to 12 men aboard, as they floundered off New Jersey.

Police and guardsmen searched waters around Long Island, near New York City, for seven duck hunters missing since yesterday. Three other duck hunters are reported missing near Atlantic City, N. J.

Several Staten Island residents were evacuated from seaside homes in anticipation of early morning high tides. Heavy seas flooded a few New Jersey areas and buffeted Brooklyn's Belt Parkway.

Santa Will Arrive In Marion Nov. 28

Plans for the arrival of Santa Claus in Marion were made Friday by members of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Santa will come in on the end of the annual Christmas Parade to be held this year on Nov. 28. He will set up shop again this year at the Courthouse and remain until Christmas Eve when he takes off for his trip around the world.

Children will have plenty of opportunity to talk with Santa and give him their lists of things wanted for Christmas Day. The old gentleman will be in Marion for about 26 days before he heads back to make his deliveries.

RIOTING OVER TRIESTE SPILLS OVER INTO ROME. Demonstrations in the port of Trieste spread to Rome where thousands of students (below) flee after stoning the U. S. embassy and British consulate in protest over the death of Italian rioters in the Adriatic city. U. S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce (top, left) walked unmolested through an angry mob in Rome when her car was forced to halt. The anger of the Trieste rioters is directed against troops under the command of British Maj. Gen. Sir Thomas Winterton (top, right).

Swiss Criticize Red Tactics in Prisoner Talks

Threaten To Resign Unless Harassment Of POWs Is Stopped

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Swiss today threatened to quit the Korean repatriation commission unless the Communists are barred from harassing anti-Red Chinese and Korean prisoners during prolonged interviews.

The threat came less than 24 hours after the Indian chairman of the commission, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, indirectly warned the Reds to change their tactics or face suspension of the interviews Monday.

Almin Daeniker, Swiss member of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, declared that unless two important rule changes

6 Killed, 40 Injured Badly in Clashes Of Last 3 Days

TRIESTE (AP)—U. S. troops with fixed bayonets patrolled downtown Trieste today as the uneasy embattled city prepared to bury its dead killed in savage rioting with British-trained police.

The Americans marched their posts along the waterfront Piazza dell'Unita (Union Square) where the bloodiest fighting resulted in four dead yesterday. At least six have been killed in the wild spasmodic outbreaks of the last three days.

Several of the 40 seriously wounded now in hospitals seemed doomed to die. Among them was a boy of 15. Many others were treated for minor wounds and released.

The time for the funerals—a mass city affair that could spark new rioting—was not set. In Rome, the powerful Communist-led General Confederation of Labor called for a 10-minute mourning work

Coliseum Fire Causes Damage Placed at $100

Break in Oil Line Sets Blaze; One Other Run, Inhalator Call Listed

A break in the oil line leading to the heating unit caused a $100 fire at the Veteran's Memorial Coliseum Friday night.

The fire broke out about 9 40 p.m. and men from the Mark St. and Central Station were sent to quell the blaze. Leland Watson, caretaker of the building suffered second degree burns about the face as he tried to extinguish the fire before the fire department arrived.

The fire was centered in the boiler room. Most of the damage was done to articles of clothing belonging to players for the Marion Bears. The clothes were hanging on the walls in boiler room and were covered with soot and oil.

Watson was also a victim of breathing in too much of the smoke which filled the room. He was treated by the inhalator squad for about 10 minutes and then taken to City Hospital by a member of the Sheriff's department. He was treated and released.

Officals of the Coliseum said today the heating unit had been repaired, and no disruption of the regular public skating sessions would result from the fire.

Another fire call was answered at 5 32 this morning. Grease on a stove at the D and D Restaurant at 150 N. Main St. caught fire. Men from the Central station were dispatched to the scene. No loss was reported.

The inhalator squad was called to 849 Jefferson St. where Miss Dyde Hickock of 277 Clinton St. was suffering from a severe pain in the lungs. The inhalator was used successfully for 15 minutes.

Farm Family Entertains Greece's King and Queen

OSWEGO, Ill. (AP)—Mr and Mrs George Smith rolled out the welcome mat today for the King and Queen of Greece.

The Smiths, who live in an 11-room white house on their 335-acre hog and dairy farm, had told their Kendall County neighbors they didn't anticipate any "fuss and feathers" on the occasion of the royal visit.

But the fried chicken was guaranteed tender and tasty and the apple pie was the kind only Mrs. Smith can bake.

The visit was an event on the 25-day U S tour schedule of King Paul and Queen Frederika, who spent last night in Chicago and will return there for a banquet this evening.

It was the King who set plans for today's call in motion by saying he desired to see "a typical Midwest farm." An aide of Gov. William G. Stratton selected that of Smith, 36, and his wife Ann, 33. The farm is located 40 miles west of Chicago.

King Paul, who led his country's farm recovery after World War II, was invited by Smith to view his prosperous grain and hay layout which boasts 60 head of Holstein cows and 250 pigs farrowed this year.

On hand for the visit were the Smiths' four children—Nannette 11, Cheryl, 9, Kent 5, and the baby, Lois, not yet 1 month old.

Wide Areas Covered With White Carpet

Seaboard and Nation's Midlands Feel Effects Of First Northeaster

By The Associated Press

Early November snowstorms spread a carpet of white across wide areas along the Eastern Seaboard and in the nation's midlands today.

The first northeaster of the season, erupting suddenly yesterday, swept up the Middle Atlantic Coast spreading a band of snow from the mountains of South Carolina to southern New England.

10 Inches in Kansas

The snow diminished during the night in some areas. But there were up to 10 inches at Colby, Kan., and more than 6 inches on the ground in other sections of Kansas and in Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The snow turned to rain or sleet in some sections of the two widely separated storm belts, increasing the already hazardous driving conditions on streets and highways.

Transportation, both by air and highway, was sharply curtailed, especially in the Eastern storm belt. Scores of persons were stranded on Eastern highways in some rural areas. There were traffic jams in the cities.

Rain, freezing drizzle and snow hit Great Plains areas today from Oklahoma northward through the Dakotas.

Rain, Snow Widespread

Rain and snow also was widespread in the northeast part of the country as far south as Virginia and westward into Ohio.

Strong north to northeast winds whipped the falling snow into drifts in the rural areas. It was chilly and the winds and snow fashioned a wintry setting.

The cool air extended all the way from the Rockies to New England and into the South with the exception of southern Florida.

The stormy weather dealt a knockout blow to football and horse racing, both in the Eastern and Great Plains states.

Two of the three major race tracks on the East Coast canceled their programs today. Racing programs were called off yesterday in Laurel, Md., Camden, N. J., and at Yonkers Raceway, north of New York City.

Football Games Postponed

Three scheduled college football games, one each in Kansas, Nebraska and Pennsylvania, were postponed because of the snow. Scores of high school and junior college games were postponed as far south as Richmond, Va., along the Eastern Coast, while others were called off in Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas.

Many big cities in the East—New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Newark—were hit hard by the storms.

Heaviest snow falls were in the Philadelphia-Camden, N. J., area and around Baltimore. Philadelphia reported 6 inches and 3 more inches were expected before the predicted clearing around noon today. Falls in Maryland were around 7 inches, the heaviest on record for the date.

New York City had a record 3.7 inches snowfall in 11 hours before rain started late last night. Yesterday's low of 29.5 degrees also was a record for New York City for Nov. 6. More rain was forecast today with gale force winds but some warming appeared on the way.

Armistice Parade Slated Wednesday

Initial plans for the annual Armistice Day Parade, sponsored by the United Veterans Armistice Day Committee of Marion, were announced today by Howard E. Tweddle, chairman of the group.

Tweddle said he was hoping for about 1,500 persons to participate in the parade, which will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday. Route of the parade will be from Olney Ave. to Center St., east on Center to State St., south on State to Church St., and west on Church to Pearl St. where the parade will disband.

School bands in the city and county have been asked to participate in the parade, as well as Scouts and veterans organizations.

TO STATE BENCH. John H. Lamneck, state welfare director, has been named to fill the vacancy on the Ohio supreme court created by the death of judge Edward S. Matthias. The appointment becomes effective Nov. 16.

Coast Storm Backs Up To Blanket Ohio

Northeastern Section Gets Most Snow, Up To Six Inches in Places

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A seaward-bound Atlantic coast storm backed up last night and literally pushed snow over the Appalachians, across Pennsylvania and Ohio to the Indiana border today.

The runaway storm was off the Carolinas last night, moving out to sea as scheduled. Temperatures throughout Ohio were above freezing and there was no sign of a storm.

A few hours later, North Carolina's storm had blustered back inland with powerful winds that gave eastern Pennsylvania an average of six inches of snow and forced the snow over the mountain ranges and over two-thirds of Ohio. [illegible] of Ohio.

Howard Kenny of the Columbus Weather Bureau said northeastern Ohio had the most snow, with two to three inches around Youngstown, Warren, Dover, and other northeastern points. In some hilly areas as much as six inches accumulated.

At Steubenville, traffic was slowed on Ohio 2, with cars stalling on a steep hill at Reeds Mill. Four persons were injured at Warren in traffic accidents on slippery streets.

Kenny predicted the snow would continue steadily through central Ohio today and part of the night, with accumulations of two to five inches on surfaces other than well-traveled highways and streets.

He said streets probably would be slushy in many areas.

Kenny said the snow probably would extend throughout Ohio, including the Cincinnati and Portsmouth areas which received no snow earlier in the day.

Since the storm moved in from the east, temperatures have risen. In Cleveland the temperature went well above the freezing point. In Columbus and Toledo, the temperature was back to 32 late in the morning. Only in the Youngstown and Huntington, W. Va., areas temperatures still were below freezing, with 32 degrees recorded at both points late this morning.

Fifth of Inch Of Snow Here, More Forecast

In Marion's first major snowfall of the season, which began during the night last night and continued this morning, two-tenths of a inch of snow covered the ground.

More is predicted for later today, with flurries likely also on Sunday.

The mercury dropped to 26 last night from the maximum of only 42 recorded during the day. A year ago, the high was 45 and the minimum went to only 35.

Two to four inches of snow has been predicted for tonight in the northeastern part of the state with snow flurries also forecast for other parts of the state. The low temperatures tonight is expected to be between 25 and 30.

O Zion, Haste

A mother writes at the bedside of her child

Frederick William Faber was brought up a Protestant but, at age 31, went over to the Catholic faith. Becoming a priest in the Roman Church, Faber missed the hymns of his earlier days and set about to fill the void by his own pen. With varying editorial changes, many of Faber's hymns are sung in both Protestant and Catholic churches.

While Frederick W. Faber was writing "Faith of Our Fathers," "Hark, Hark, My Soul" and 148 other hymns a century ago, a young English woman named Mary Ann Faulkner came to Philadelphia and married Protestant Episcopal John Thomson, of the Free Public Library staff.

One night in 1868, Mary Ann Thomson sat at the bedside of her typhoid-stricken son. The child asleep, Mrs. Thomson fell to humming favorite hymns. Among them was Faber's "Hark, Hark, my soul! angelic songs are swelling, . . ." She was especially fond of the music—written by blind Organist Henry Smart—and thought it excellent for a missionary hymn. So, having written a number of hymn-poems for her denomination, she set about writing some verses of her own to fit the tune.

MRS. THOMSON has said the poem came with little effort. But, unable to write a suitable refrain, she put the poem aside and it was three years before she found time from her household chores to finish the job.

Strange things happen even in the birth of a hymn. Though a student of Henry Smart, Organist James Walch didn't like the tune Smart had written for Faber's hymn. So he wrote a tune of his own.

Then, reading Mrs. Thomson's poem, a hymnal editor opined that James Walch's new tune was a nautral for the verses. Thus, the two were brought together and "O Zion, Haste" is never sung to the music that inspired its writing. Instead, it is sung to music written to supplant it

Here are the words Mary Ann Thomson wrote at the bedside of her sick child in 1868 As mentioned, the refrain came three years later.

O Zion, haste, thy mission high fulfilling,
To tell to all the world that God is Light;
That He who made all nations is not willing
One soul should perish, lost in shades of night.

Behold how many thousands still are lying,
Bound in the dark-some prison-house of sin,
With none to tell them of the Saviour's dying,
Or of the life He died for them to win.

Proclaim to every people, tongue and nation
That God in whom they live and move is love;
Tell how He stopped to save His lost creation,
And died on earth that man might live above

Give of thy sons to bear the message glorious;
Give of thy wealth to speed them on their way;
Pour out thy soul for them in prayer victorious;
And all thou spendest Jesus will repay.

(Refrain)
Publish glad tidings,
Tidings of peace;
Tidings of Jesus,
Redemption and release.

Thanks-Living

A Sermonette

By REV. CLEMENT E. HERSHEY
Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church

"In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."
1 Thessalonians 5:18.

In a few more days we will be celebrating our national Thanksgiving in response to the proclamation of our President. Our hearts should be full of praise and thanksgiving to God for the blessings that are ours today. How the blessings and comforts of life have multiplied since the Pilgrim Fathers celebrated their first Thanksgiving Day! Truly, we believe it is altogether fitting and proper that one day should be set aside by our nation to spend in thanksgiving to God. But are we to be thankful only on Thanksgiving Day? Are we to offer our thanks to God just once a year?

Sometimes we are prone to forget our blessings. The trials of life surround us, and we are filled with care and busy with the everyday problems of living, and we forget to give thanks. It is a good idea to stop occasionally and take an inventory of one's blessings Of course, it is impossible to remember them all, they are so numerous Our hearts really become softened and our spirits thankful when we attempt to enumerate our blessings.

CONTENTMENT is not a natural characteristics of the human heart. With every provision made for their happiness and well being, Adam and Eve, instead of being thankful and satisfied with the Divine supply, reached out against the direct commandment of God, for the one thing which had been forbidden them. As common as Thanksving Day is the complaint, "What have I got to be thankful for" But thankfulness is as much a Bible command as is honesty Ingratitude is a sin which grieves the heart of God and robs us of blessings that God longs to bestow. We habitually take the blessing of God for granted, but we seldom fail to complain when His blessings are withheld. Such is the natural tendency of the heart of man!

Many years ago the Psalmist saw the need of thanksgiving and knew that it was dwarfing the lives of God's children and hindering them from enjoying the countless blessings which the Heavenly Father had provided and he cried from the depths of his heart, "O that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men!" Four times in the 107th Psalm he repeats these words Today there is the same dire need. God's children need to humbly bow in heartfelt thanksgiving. When thanksgiving has been offered, thankshving should be practiced.

HOW OFTEN HAVE you earnestly prayed for something, received the answer to your prayer, and then failed to thank Him. Did you tell Him, and show by your actions and speech that you were thankful? When you forget that He answered your prayer—even if it were only a simple request for grace for a particular moment—He is grieved Remember how faithful He was in giving the grace. How unthankful we are—yet He is always faithful.

"In everything give thanks." is the commandment of the Lord. A life filled with thanksgiving is one of the best ways of witnessing for Christ. The world is after the best things and when they see by the lives and faces of believers, that Christianity brings happiness, they want it too. Thanksgiving is the best advertisement of Christianity. Let us therefore be careful to thank the Lord for all the blessings He bestows upon us and let us live a life of thanks.

IF YOU ARE a child of God, through faith in His Son, do not be guilty of being thankless. Begin today offering your thanksgiving unto God by thanks-living. You can never thank Him enough for what He has done for you. He gave His life upon the Cross of Calvary for you Give your life unto Him for service as a thank offering. By earnest, willing service show the world your thankfulness.

"In everything give thanks" When adversity, financial losses, bereavement, ill-health, unkindnesses, trials or troubles come—then, even we are to give thanks. "All things work together for good to them that love God . . ." so the believer can trustfully thank Him for ALL THINGS. Sometimes this may be difficult to do but through thus completely trusting Him comes a wonderful satisfaction, a joy, and a peace that is incomparable. If we completely trust Him, then and then only, can we show thanksgiving by thanksliving. Then the eyes of the unsaved will see Christ in us. One can live a testimony as well as speak one.

AS WE THANK HIM, let us thank Him especially for the precious Blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. Let us thank God that He was willing to give His Son to die on the Cross of Calvary that all who believe might be saved. That precious Blood washes the sinner whiter than snow. Sinful humanity is not worthy of God's love. But Christ Jesus died for sinful humanity. All humanity is sinful for God's Word tells us, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God," Romans 3 23. Therefore all humanity is in need of a Saviour . . . the Saviour Jesus Christ. Man's righteousness and good works are counted as nothing. "But to as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name." John 1:12. Receiving Jesus Christ as one's own personal Saviour is the only means of salvation. If you have not done this, make this Thanksgiving season worthy of eternal thanksgiving by accepting Christ—trusting in His finished work on Calvary—for your salvation.

The injunction to avoid putting new wine in old bottles results from the fact that the ancient skin bottles might be so weakened by use that gas from the new wine would burst them.

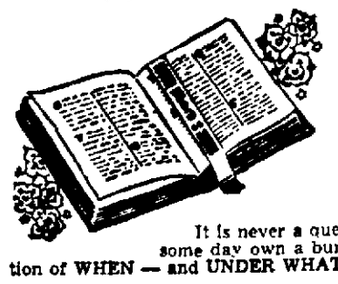
Because Fate Makes No Appointments


"Heaven from all creatures hides the book of Fate
All but the page prescribed, their present State."
It is never a question of WHETHER one will some day own a burial plot It is rather a question of WHEN — and UNDER WHAT CIRCUMSTANCES?
Shall it be "some other time" because the need does not seem so imminent today? Or NOW when, by a single simple act, you can GUARANTEE that the hasty getting of burial space will not be the first agonizing responsibility of an hour already dark with grief?
Daily the obituary columns remind us that Fate is no respecter of ages. That it is she, not we, who chooses the day of need. That she is just as likely to strike suddenly and unexpectedly as to number our years by generations.
Shall we tempt Fate by playing guessing games with her — or know the peace of mind that comes from having forever settled one of Life's most important obligations?

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A Positive Attitude Toward Illness

A positive and creative attitude toward illness is important in stimulating the forces of healing. It is easy to become pessimistic and discouraged when sickness comes and optimism about illness takes faith and courage. But it is a powerful aid to getting well; when you think health, think in terms of revitalization.

DR. PEALE

When I go into a hospital or home to visit a sick person, even if I am told that the medical indications are hopeless, I refuse to offer any prayer but one for healing. As a minister I fight death to the last. I believe that is my duty, even as it is my privilege to offer comfort if we lose the last great battle of life.

Of course, God has said "No" to my prayers many times. When He does, I have learned to take His answer humbly, with the recognition that His will is best. Of course, there are laws of prayer and healing I do not understand. It may also be that if we pray sincerely enough, think positively enough, believe earnestly enough, new areas of truth will be opened to us that will bring about new healing powers.

BUT THERE ARE many times when I have seen the prayers of faith help heal the sick. A minister I know was called to see a girl in a hospital late one night. Her family did not want to tell him that she was hoselessly ill; they just said that she was filled with fear. So, when he went in to see her, he was not handicapped by a negative conviction that all was lost. She took his hand, piteously. "I'm afraid," she said. "I'm going to die." "Oh, no," he told her. "You're not going to die. You're just frightened here in this hospital. You're all right. You're going to get well." She looked up at him. "Do you really believe that? Do you think God will make me well?"

—:—

HIS GAZE met hers, firmly and honestly "Yes," he said, "I believe God will make you well." And he prayed with her, affirming that God was even then making her well and healthy.

He returned the next morning and the physician met him with this comment: "I don't know what you did when you saw that girl, but a miracle has happened. Why, we didn't expect her to last the night."

"She was just frightened, wasn't she?" he asked.

"Oh, no," the doctor replied. "She had been having a series of convulsions. But she did not have another after you left. She has now turned the corner and will get well."

My friend was shocked by the realization that if he had known about those convulsions and the doctor's fears before he went into that room, he might have transmitted an image of death and hopelessness to the girl and so lost her. But, not having the knowledge which would have made him negative, his positive faith had helped him turn the tide.

OBVIOUSLY, IT is more difficult to maintain this positive attitude when you know and allow yourself to be affected by discouraging factors. The major point is, do not visualize people as unhealthy; see them rather as being in the flow of God's health and vitality. Help them to believe, so that through faith they may draw health from God. God is filled with all the positive energy in the world, and from Him they may draw recreative force that can add years of health to their lives. Help them to utilize all of God's therapeutic agents: His servants, the doctors, practitioners of science; and His servants, the ministers, practitioners of faith.

A positive attitude represents healthy thinking. And healthy thinking tends to produce healthy feeling. So take a positive attitude toward illness.

New Subversives Law Now in Effect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A law banning subversive organizations and providing stiff penalties for persons who join organizations knowing they are subversive went into effect in Ohio today.

The law directs the Ohio Un—American Activities Commission to turn over its work next Jan. 31 to the Ohio attorney general.

The law was passed over the veto of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who maintained the FBI is competent to cope with subversive organizations.

Seven other laws passed over Lausche's veto also become effective today. One creates a new department of mental hygiene which assumes charge of state hospitals and prisons, formerly under the welfare department. The welfare department continues to administer state social services, such as aid to the aged.

Harvard's Student Newspaper Challenges Senator McCarthy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been challenged by the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily newspaper, to "put up or shut up" on his charge that Harvard students are being exposed to "Communist professors and party pilosophy."

A Crimson editorial today replied to a charge voice Thursday by McCarthy saying it knows of "no faculty members who acted as if he were under Communist domination" and called on the Wisconsin Republican to "actually name the professor or professors Harvard president, asking, "What

In Washington yesterday, McCarthy made public a telegram addressed to Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, Harvard president, asking, "What if any action the university intends to take in Furry's case (Prof. Wendell H. Furry, who refused to say whether he had indoctrinated students in Communist philosophy) and what your attitude generally is toward retaining teachers at Harvard who refuse to state whether they are Communists on the ground that the truth would tend to incriminate them.

"Your answer becomes doubly important in view of Mr. Furry's testimony under oath that you had no interest in whether or not he was ar had been a Communist," the telegram added.

Harvard has refused formal comment on McCarthy's charge, but Pusey was cheered by 200 students, faculty members and alumni yesterday when he said at the Harvard Dental School in Boston:

"After reading headlines that Harvard is a mess, occasions and achievements like this give lie to that kind of remark."

FINED FOR TRAPPING

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Raymond Tesnow, 18, Findlay, was fined $150 yesterday for trapping muskrats out of season.

Hunting Season at Hand

Sheriff Issues Warning On Firearms Regulations

With duck hunting season now in full swing, and the rabbit and pheasant season opening soon, Sheriff Glen Obenour today issued a warning to both parents and children about the use of firearms.

Pointing to two sections of the Revised Code of Ohio, Obenour said it was unlawful for children under 16 to hunt unless they were accompanied by a parent or other person over 16. The other section specifically prohibits the sale or giving of firearms or ammunition to minors under 17 unless the minor is hunting under provisions of the first section.

Section 1533.13 of the Revised Code, outlining the provisions required for issuing of hunting licenses, states in part: "No person under 16 years of age shall hunt under (the) sections . . . of the revised code unless accompanied by a parent or other adult person instead of a parent."

Since the above section is not mentioned specifically in the list of punishments, it falls under the general classification of those sections which are punishable by a fine of not less than $15 nor more than $200.

The section which deals with the selling or giving of firearms or ammunition to minors is section 2903.06 which states: "No person shall sell, barter, furnish, or give to a minor under the age of 17 years, an air gun, musket, rifle, shotgun, revolver, pistol, or other fire-arm, or ammunition therefor, or, being the owner or having charge or control thereof, knowingly permit it to be used by a minor under such age.

"Whoever violates this section shall be fined not more than $100 and imprisoned not more than 30 days or both. This section is not applicable to a minor under the age of 17 years who is hunting in accordance with section 1533.13 of the Revised Code."

The warning was issued in an effort to curb deaths among the youth of the country. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. recently issued a bulletin saying the highest death rate from fire-arm accidents was among children aged 15 to 19, with those aged 10 to 14 following close behind.

About 2,000 persons are killed every year by firearms, the bulletin added. The greatest hazards for hunters are: walking into the line of fire; accidental discharge of firearms while walking, by tripping, stumbling or falling; and hunters being mistaken for game.

While the younger persons are the greatest victims in firearm accidents, every age group has its own percentage of victims. The only way to avoid hunting accidents is to follow the law and every rule of safety.

Speech Event Won by Senior Girl at Harding

Mary Lou Kruskamp To Represent County In Democracy Contest

Mary Lou Kruskamp, Harding High School senior, will represent Marion County in the state "I Speak for Democracy" contest.

Miss Kruskamp was chosen as Harding High's democracy contest winner Friday morning during an assembly and, consequently, became Marion County representative for the state contest since other schools in the county did not hold local contests

The Harding senior was chosen from six finalists who appeared on the stage of the auditorium to read their five-minute scripts headed "I Speak for Democracy." Representing the senior class along with Miss Kruskamp was Murray Leeper; juniors, Helen Kannel a d Judy Street; and sophomors, Ernie Adams and Judy Cowgill.

The winner was chosen by a panel of three judges seated in the audience, Ralph Wilson and Ronald Powell from the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce, which annually sponsors the local contest, and Miss Phyllis Ziegler of the General Telephone Co.

Prize for winning the school title was a portable radio, which was presented to Miss Kruskamp by Mr Powell. She was also given a certificate as Marion County winner. A recording of her script will be made at WMRN and will be sent to the state finals in December. Winner of the state finals will receive a television receiver or radio and will be eligible for the national contest, where the first prize will be a $500 scholarship check and a trip to Washington, D. C.

Writing of the scripts began last week in Harding High English classes, and a winner was selected in each class. The class winners recorded their scripts and the six finalists were then chosen by a panel of teachers.

During the Friday morning assembly, Dick Mull, representing the Hi-Y Clubs of Marion, made the presentation of science film slides from the Life magazine series to Cecil Gabler, Harding principal. The slides were purchased as a Hi-Y Club project.

Only the Beginning

Passage of the Home Rule Charter issue in last Tuesday's election places a heavy burden of responsibility on the 15-member charter commission and every Marion citizen. The success of the issue at the polls was not the end of anything, but only the beginning.

The key to the question before the voters this year, as pointed out so often before the election, was that an affirmative vote would not bring any immediate change in Marion's city government. All the passage of the issue accomplished was to set up a commission to study the forms of municipal government possible under a charter.

After prolonged study and discussion, including public meetings, the commission will submit its recommendations to the electorate 30 days before the 1954 fall election. The decision to accept or reject those recommendations then will fall upon the voters.

A possible change in the form of city government is a serious and far-reaching matter that will call for intensive deliberation, not only on the part of the 15 commission members, but every adult resident of Marion as well

The chips are now down. Many of those who supported the issue and worked for its passage in this week's election did so on the grounds that a year's research on municipal government would be a good thing for the city.

Specific forms of government, and possible changes, are something else again. The big questions now are these: Will a change in the structure of government benefit Marion or should the present form be retained? If a change does seem indicated, what alternative form should be adopted?

It's up to all of us to find out.

Election Footnote

After the smoke of the election battle has cleared and results have been tabulated, publicized and explained, it makes an interesting footnote on the election to look back and wonder why some people did as they did.

A good example of this is the proposed amendments to the Ohio constitution. The first two items were controversial — whether to issue a half billion dollars in road bonds and whether to establish a state board of education.

The remaining seven were mere technical revisions that had no bearing on the people; they were to simplify and bring up to date certain obsolete phrases in the state constitution.

Yet on each of these seven points more than 400,000 people in Ohio voted "No."

It had been widely explained that these were minor, technical points that required merely a formal "Yes" vote. Sample ballots explaining the issues carried "X's" for these points and marked them as "mere technicalities."

Some voters make a practice of voting against every issue, regardless of its purpose or need. That explains some of the 400,000 "No" votes. Many others in doubt just voted "No." Some showed prejudices by voting against those militia items that deleted the word "white."

All seven uncontroversial issues carried but it should have been nearly unanimous.

Perhaps there is a need for more concentration on civics courses in school and better teaching of the voting procedures. Maybe voters just need to wake up and pay a little more attention to what they are voting on.

New Step in Polio Fight

A small news item recently may have escaped many readers but it deserves mention again for it contains very heartening news.

It concerns the fact that a Detroit company has been able to photograph the polio virus by using a powerful microscope.

The dreaded disease seemed lighter this year but it still ranks with diseases of undetermined origin though much research has been done on it Thus, even a small announcement that someone has made one step forward is big news.

The pictures show the virus as a tiny round ball, so small that a million side by side would be only an inch long The historic photos show magnifications up to 200,000 and 300,000 times.

The Detroit firm is now working on a vaccine and through the use of the photographs they study the results as various treatments are tried

It may take more than a year yet, but it's good news and certainly encouraging.

Let the Sunshine In

Too often the cares and ills of the world . . of the state . . . of the city . . . of the individual are all one looks at and they become magnified so tremendously that there are too many sourpusses in the world.

We pick up the binoculars when looking at our cares and then turn them around and look through the wrong end when looking at someone else's problems What we really need is to don the rose-colored glasses again and see the brighter things in life.

There really is a lot of good in the world and a lot of value in life. It's like everything else though—just as the saying goes that the more you do the more you get, similarly, the more you look for the more your find.

Let's look for the brighter side, talk about the pleasanter things—just for a change . . . and then just see the change!

One Lesson Learned

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower Sees Through Attempt To Split GOP

They have a White House rule that doesn't permit first-person quotation of everything a president says in a press conference—but it's most unfortunate because by all odds the most interesting piece of news about the elections was what Mr. Eisenhower said about it to the press.

There were at least three opportunities for him to be devious—to avail himself of the tricks of the political game or to boom forth with a sweeping statement of confidence in the future of his party, as if nothing adverse had happened Tuesday. He turned them all aside and talked frankly, earnestly and without guile.

For one thing the president declined to be drawn into an analysis or interpretation of the election results.

HE FRANKLY said he didn't know any more about it than—if as much as—some of the newspapermen interrogating him. He did recognize that in some places Republicans had lost and in some places they had won, and he didn't feel that he should say whether or not the election was a test of his policies because he frankly didn't know.

At one point in the conversation Eisenhower told the press that as most people know, he is a novice in politics and has never claimed to be a politician.

He does pin his faith to a belief in the common sense of the American people when they are informed. He thinks they have to be informed as to the basic facts—and some of these facts are rather stark and disagreeable—and the administration has the duty of putting forth and enacting a program that the mass of the American people will say is a good one.

THE JOB of the administration, he says, is to provide a dynamic and forward-looking program.

When the reporters asked him if perhaps some voters thought they hadn't yet gotten the change they voted for last autumn, the President said he thought the kind of change the people wanted was an orderly and progressive change and not just any other kind. He added they were going to get it and are getting it.

Throughout the press conference, the President handled himself with calmness and poise and didn't become entangled in the traps into which some of the questions might have led him An effort was made to get him to weaken his recent statement that he would favor the election of Republicans everywhere. The inquiry was whether he would support a republican with a record that was not in support of his administration.

PREVIOUSLY the President had remarked that his idea of endorsing Republicanism generally the other day was not intended to say he supported every candidate, irrespective of individual character or integrity.

Even if this wasn't involved, he was then asked, would he support anti-administration Republicans for re-election in Congress next year?

The President declined to commit himself to what he would do about this, but he gave the impression he was not going to become involved in local contests with specific individuals in his party.

Thus the President tried also to convey the idea that, in saying he had "lost skirmishes before"—and he permitted direct quotation on that phrase—he wasn't commenting on individual races but, as titular leader of the party, on the fact that some Republican contests were lost.

THE PRESIDENT didn't hesitate to answer another question as to whether, having lost skirmishes, he intended "to win the war." This obvious reference to future congressional elections drew from the President the earnest statement that he never went into a war to lose one.

The use of such words as progressive and forward-looking indicate that the President has definite ideas as to the kind of a legislative and executive program the country expects from him It is clear he isn't going to fall for the strategy of the New Dealers and Fair Dealers who are constantly trying to get him to enter into a knockdown, dragout fight with the members of his own party. This is usually cloaked with the pious advice that Eisenhower should assert "leadership." A president with both the House and the Senate almost evenly divided in party strength doesn't pick fights with his own party and split it still further.

IF HE IS tactful—and Eisenhower certainly is inherently a conciliator rather than a challenger—he will try to persuade his party following to adopt measures that are the result of common counsel and mutual concession.

Dwight Eisenhower is learning all the time something about politics, but he has already learned one important lesson—that the opposition party hasn't any friendly interest in keeping Republicans harmonious but wants to divide them into splinter camps.

The advocacy of progressive measures will never wreck the Republican party—although it has split the Democrats of the North and South—if, in sponsoring them, the President takes all the members of his own party into his confidence ahead of time and gives each section or fraction a chance to present its views.

Federation of Oil Sheiks

By Alec De Montmorency

The Tory government of Sir Winston Churchill, which has just completed the Central African Federation in order to insure the permanence of British rule in that rich mining area of the Dark Continent, is now embarking on a similar project in the oil-rich Persian Gulf region.

A dispatch to the Scotsman, of Edinburg, reports that the idea of a Persian Gulf federation is being canvassed among the native rulers of the small sheikdoms and amirates which cluster the infernally hot eastern coast of Arabia, and those sheiks and amirs have been called to a general conference "to discuss matters of common interest and to facilitate trade."

In the last few years untold billions of barrels of oil have been found to underlie the arid dunes, the swamps and the shallow, shark-infested tidelands of those small Arab realms—exciting covetous designs among their larger neighbors

The new federation will contain the world's largest known oil resources. The single great Gurghan Oil Field is now known to contain more than 30,000,000,000 barrels of extractable crude, or approximately as much as all the known oil fields of the United States put together.

It is already producing 900,000 barrels of crude per day, making the little sheikdom of Kuweit the world's third most important oil-producing country. The Dukhan Oil Field in Qatar, which has already been found to be more than 60 miles in length, appears to be of similar magnitude.

Shortly after its return to power two years ago the conservative administration announced its intention to spread more evenly throughout the entire area the benefits from the huge oil royalties received by the sheiks of Kuweit, Qatar and Bahrein, and those which may shortly accrue to the trucial sheiks whose territory and tidelands are being dotted with exploratory wells.

That announcement, coupled with the more recent one about increasing the size of the Arab Legion of Jordan would indicate that those oil revenues not only will be syphoned into useful agricultural, hydraulic and other development schemes in the neighboring lands which have no oil, but will also be used to help pay for the defense of the entire region.

Plans for the federation of the British-protected sheikdoms apparently have been hastened by the expansionist policies of neighboring Saudi Arabia, whose 74-year-old, six-foot, five-inches tall king aspires to unite the whole Arabian peninsula under his scepter and is laying ever-increasing claims on the territory of the British-protected sheiks.

Texas Takes Snuff

DALLAS (AP) — R. H. Stanley of Dallas is a fellow who keeps his business right up to snuff. That's what it is — snuff. It's big buiness in Texas. Texans buy "a little better than three million pounds a year," and not all of the buyers are country folks. "A good bit is sold right here in Dallas," Stanley said, "mostly to working people, but not all of it." For example his company — he's district sales manager — ran an essay contest on "Why I Like Snuff," and got three entries from Dallas' swankiest neighborhood. Stanley checked them personally.

Tax Discrimination

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—There's discrimination between sexes under the new Pennsylvania sales tax. If a woman buys a garter belt for herself, it's exempt from the tax. But if a man buys garters for himself, he must pay the one per cent levy. Revenue Department officials won't give a reason for the distinction between the gadget used to hold up women's stockings and the gadget used by men.

A Rough Course

Making Income Taxes Less Painful

By Raymond Moley

It has been bad enough these past years for the taxpayer to meet the mounting cost of government, but his misery has been compounded by the awkward, incompetent, and oppressive way in which the government has collected its money.

Considering the fact that collections increased in 20 years something like thirty-five fold, it is small wonder that the collecting machinery grew without form or reason. Add to that the fact that administration of the service under Morgenthau embodied honesty without imagination and that under his successors it was neither imaginative nor humane nor free of politics and corruption.

This mess is what T. Coleman Andrews took over on February 4.

Andrews was a man highly respected in his profession as an accountant. He was used to large business problems and had proved his worth with the first Hoover Commission.

-:-

IT TOOK HIM some weeks to get the whole picture of his job clearly in mind, but then his constructive imagination began to create constructive reforms.

Some of these he has already put into effect; some are projected; and still others will require action by Congress.

The most revolutionary and the one which is likely to win Republicans many a vote is still under consideration.

It is called the "returns elimination program" and is designed to relieve some 35,000,000 taxpayers of filing any returns at all. Imagine the shout of joy at such a program as that!

It is entirely reasonable because that number, whose income is entirely derived from salaries and wages, are now all subject to withholding. Only two other items are necessary to figure the tax. The number of dependents and whether the taxpayer wants to take the customary deduction.

THIS PLAN would require a pooling of information by the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Social Security Administration. It also would require some sort of congressional action.

The purpose of the reforms already put into operation by executive action is to decentralize — to get some of the bureaucracy out of Washington.

There will be nine regional offices, each headed by a regional commissioner, and there will be sixty-four directors' offices where most of the work is done.

There will be added emphasis on helping taxpayers to prepare their returns. To do that will eliminate a vast number of errors which have in the past required enormous labor to discover and to bring to the taxpayers' attention.

Most important is the feature of the present reorganization which moves the so-called "post audit" of returns out of Washington and into the director's offices in the field.

AFTER THE RETURNS are audited the taxpayer may appear before conferees in the local office. If he is not satisfied an extensive system of appeals is available to him.

To make it possible for taxpayers and for those provate individuals who help taxpayers outside Washington, there will be complete and simple publications of rulings. These means of simplifying the preparation and consideration of returns and the moving of more operations into the field will deal a heavy blow to the private practitioners—some lawyers, some accountants, and some both — who have been making a living in Washington.

With only a few exceptions, these are perfectly honest and sincere people trying, like the rest of us, to make a living by giving service. Many of them were once employees of the Bureau who have useful contacts with people still employed there.

THE EFFECT of the reorganization will be to keep their prospects out of Washington. It also will compel those who stay in business to make new contacts out in the field

A committee of Washington tax practitioners has been appointed and it has strenuously objected to the plan That, of course, was to be expected.

Their complaints were without avail, because the Joint Committee, including in its membership Byrd, George, Reed, Millikin, and others, heartily approved the change.

So while the tax bite may be nearly as deep in the future, there will be less tearing of the flesh. For this, Commissioner Andrews and the Treasury deserve much credit.

Soldiers in 'Civvies'

By MARK DANA

The new Army ruling which not only permits but apparently requires our male and female military personnel in West Germany to wear civilian clothing when not on actual duty bases on the belief that the Germans will feel less "occupied" with fewer khaki uniforms around to remind them of World War II and its aftermath of regulations.

From now on, non-duty American soldiers, from privates up, will look like "tourists," the Army brass believe, but military police will prowl around to make sure that the troops at least conduct themselves no worse than real tourists

There are various psychological factors involved Some GI's and officers in mufti, minus the authority of their uniforms, and wishing to make friends among the Germans as human beings rather than members of a conquering tribe, may conduct themselves with more modesty, kindness and morality than have been predominant traits of Americans during the whole occupational period. Some others, relieved of their conspicuous uniforms, may attempt skulduggery they previously have timidly avoided

Until the West Germans became so afraid of a quick invasion by the Russians, they would have been happy if all Americans had gone home long ago

Now, of course, West Germany —enjoying the recent wooing and coaxing from Washington — is more content for our troops to remain there, at least until the contemplated European Defense Community joint-continental army comes into being. If and when that becomes a reality, with ultimate full French cooperation, West Germany may become even more irked by our euphemistic "tourists."

Fun Marches On

The Stork Club now has a TV show sponsored by Chrysler . . . This is the first admission that food and an auto are economically on the same level. It can be a prelude to a restaurant dinner on time payments, with an allowance on the old checkbook.

Groucho Marx is sponsored by the same company and this may be a test between Groucho and Billingsly in the matter of pulling power. Groucho is now far ahead due to the fact it can mean trouble for a man to show up in a salesroom, especially in the South, with the remark "Sherman sent me."

Use of the airwaves by the Stork Club for some years past has been one of the most interesting developments both in showmanship and in eating. When TV first came out people went to a saloon or cafe to see the picture . . . Now they go to the picture to see the saloon. It's a novel twist. It has been more than slightly amazing to tune into a restaurant telecast and see some of the world's most prominent people doing their eating and drinking as a "production number" over a national network.

We used to think the best people wanted privacy, reserve and dignity at their meals . . but we have discovered that they dine out with the same whoopla that marks a Jackie Gleason show, a five-alarm fire or a Kefauver TV inquiry.

Distinguished industrial leaders, top scientists, celebrated dowagers and noted debutantes offer themselves as a backdrop for a sort of glorified vaudeville show.

It fascinates us . . . There is always the chance Billingsly will leave the table occupied by the eight-goal polo man and the famous musical comedy comedian to introduce a quartet number by four justices of the Supreme Court, the American Bar Association or the Association of ex-Presidents of the United States.

Tieup between Billingsly and Chrysler can boost auto sales, and, what's more, boost eating It even can introduce a nightclub where you can get the best seat by pressing a button on the dash.

Since Uncle Miltie began under that new sponsor we hear that you can now get a Buick that ad libs.

A druggist awarded the program concession at the Yonkers race track in New York was "allotted" four partners by George Morton Levy, none of whom lifted a finger in the operation but split a profit of more than $300,000 since 1947 . . . This shows that the proprietor, like the customers in a drugstore, can find most anything he wants these days

New York police are using a "drunkometer," a balloon into which a subject breathes, to test auto drivers suspected of being more or less "high." Saw a fellow take the test after three of those current extra-dry martinis the other night . . . When he blew into the balloon the balloon became disorderly and tried to lick everybody in the joint.

Overheard at the movie "Gilbert and Sullivan" "These boys show the wonderful chance you get in Hollywood if you have promise."

Hollywood is after Charles Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis," which may bring close to a million, but we shudder at the thought of what the movie folks will do about a man to play "Slim." He is a standout type hard to duplicate and all we can hope is that Hollywood will not cast somebody as much like the Lone Eagle as Martha Raye is like Florence Nightingale.

"Red" Barber who, after 15 years with "Dem Bums," will join the Yankee outfit next season, is a Gainesville, Florida, boy, who made good in the city catbird seat. Plum One of Pennsylvania's Choicest

$85-a-Week Crane Operator Elected To $50,000 Job as Collector of Taxes

JOHNSTOWN Pa. (AP)—Joseph Tomaskovich a 39-year-old crane operator who supports his wife and three children on an $85-a-week pay check, says he has no intention of quitting his job just because he'll pick up around $50,000 in the next four years as tax collector.

Tomaskovich, a Purple Heart veteran of World War II, was elected Tuesday to one of the choicest political jobs in Pennsylvania. He lives in Franklin Borough, a community of about 2,000 on the outskirts of Johnstown, where Bethlehem Steel Co has a big plant—and is a big tax payer, contributing about $400,000 annually to the borough's coffers The other taxpayers chip in about $100,000.

The tax collector doesn't have much work. Bethlehem just mails in the tax check to the collector and the collector deducts his 2 ½ per cent commission.

"It's really not a great deal of work," Tomaskovich laughed, "Of course, I have to fill in regular monthly reports but being tax collector in Franklin Borough, I'll have to admit, is a choice job

"I'm lucky to get this extra job. I have a lot of friends. With the help of God, in the next four years, maybe I can pay off the mortgage on our home and give my wife and kids a good many of the things we can't afford now."

Tomaskovich, who, incidentally, works at the Bethlehem plant, is the father of a 5-month-old girl, a 4-year-old boy and a 9-year-old daughter.

Won With Ease

He said he wasn't particularly worried about winning the election because he did so well in the primaries last May.

"I was running on the Democratic ticket against five other candidates. I won the nomination by getting more votes than all of them combined Then, my friends in the Republican party put on a sticker campaign and I got the Republican nomination too."

At Tuesday's election Tomaskovich's only opposition came from Sadie A. Salen, who ran on the "People's Party" ballot She received 43 votes while Joe coasted home with nearly 600.

"I'm sure a happy guy," Tomaskovich declared. "We never had an automobile Maybe, now, I can afford one. But I'm not going to throw away my money.

"It is sort of an unwritten rule in Franklin Borough that you don't succeed yourself as tax collector. I go along with that.

"One term of four years in such an easy job is enough for anyone."

Fremont Defeats Harding for Eighth Straight Title

Ross Power Nullifies Top Performance by Presidents

By JOHN SHORT
Star Sports Editor

Fremont Ross threw too many big guns at the Harding Presidents last night and walked off with a hard-earned 32-14 decision. The win gave Fremont undisputed possession of the Buckeye League title, its eighth straight. The loss was the first of the year in league play for the Prexies.

It was the most points allowed this season by the Harding team but many of the estimated 4,100 left the stadium convinced the Prexies had turned in one of their best performances of the season.

Lester Franks and Ron Whitcomb pair of halfbacks capable of doing everything with a football but eating it, proved the biggest thorns in the side of the Prexies. The pair collected a total of 118 yards between them in 25 carries. They scored all the points for the visitors.

Held Scoreless in First

The teams battled to a 0-0 tie in the first period with Harding stopping Fremont drives at its 10 and eight-yard markers. On the first play of the second period, Whitcomb intercepted a Gary Ballinger pass at the Harding 47 and galloped 39 yards before being dropped at the eight. Two plays later, he plowed across from the five and followed with a placekick to give the Giants a 7-0 edge.

Late in the period Fremont kicked out of bounds at the Prexy 36 and Ballinger broke loose for 49 yards to the Ross 14. Working the Fremont line, the Prexies drove to the three from where Ballinger hit paydirt. John Obenour knotted the count with a successful kick for the point.

Gamble on Onside Kick

Harding gambled with an outside kick but Ross took over at its 42. Four plays later the Giants went ahead to stay. The score came when Whitcomb took a pass from Ted Houghtaling at the 20 and danced his way into the end zone.

Fremont's superior power began taking its toll in the third period. Although only one touchdown was scored, Whitcomb, Franks, and Ward Sewell ran wild through the Harding team. The only score came four plays after Harding had attempted another onside kickoff to give the visitors the ball at the midfield stripe. Franks climaxed the drive when he skipped through the Harding defense from the 11.

Harding drove to the 17 after Jim Whaley, making his return to action after a long layoff, recovered a Franks fumble at the 37. A pass from Fred Price to Chet King garnered 21 yards but Harding was unable to dent the rugged Fremont line for a score. Ross stopped the drive and opened an 84-yard march for another TD.

Score Nullified by Penalty

Houghtaling hit Franks with a 30-yard scoring pass but the play was nullified by a holding penalty. The third quarter ended with Ross on the Harding six.

Whitcomb opened the final period with third touchdown when he scored on a quick opener over tackle He added the point despite a high pass from center which Houghtaling had to jump for before setting it down.

Harding's final score came when a Ross punt rolled out at the Prexy 39. Price dropped back on the first play, drawing the Fremont defenders in, and then hit Chet King at the 40 with a screen pass. King went the 60 yards without being touched and Obenour added the points.

Another attempted onside kick failed and the Giants were off from the 50. It took five plays before Whitcomb broke through on the same quick hitter from the 19.

The two touchdowns by the Prexies were the highest total allowed this season by the Ross crew. Bowling Green and Cleveland West Tech had the previous high mark with seven points each.

—:—

The Harding defense at no time could set itself for any type play. With the defenders tight to stop the jolting Whitcomb and Franks, Houghtaling would take to the air

—:—

Pete Howison described the Ross powerhouse as the best Fremont team he had seen since coming to Harding. He said it was a much better team than the one of 1951 which had Jerome Surret and John Lewis in the backfield.

—:—

Pete also had nothing but praise for the Prexies He commended the boys on the spirit showed during the tilt. None of them showed any signs of being discouraged despite the Fremont power. Actually in the late stages, the Harding blocking and tackling appeared to be harder than the Ross team. Howison said he felt it was the best game of the season for the Presidents.

—:—

Harding's season ends next week at Sandusky. Last night the Blue Streaks were held to a scoreless tie by Findlay.

—:—

The Harding band was awarded a trophy by various Marion business firms during the halftime show. Mrs. Clifford Irey, president of the Band and Orchestra Parents' Association, presented the award to Jerry Emery, band president. It was presented as an award for the marching shows performed by the band at the local games.

—:—

A parade from the uptown section of Marion to the stadium was hailed as a huge success by the sponsors. Arrangements for the parade were made by the Harding Student Council and not by the Boosters Club as previously announced.

Claridon Edges LaRue 8-7 To Share Double-M Crown

Claridon's Hornets upset LaRue 8-7 with a last-minute touchdown last night to grab a share of the championship in the Double-M- Six-Man League.

LaRue went into the game with an undefeated record while the Hornets had dropped one. The two teams hooked up in a defensive duel in the first half with most of the action centered between the 30-yard stripes.

At the start of the second half, LaRue shifted into a spread formation with Larry Hickman alternately running and passing down the middle. He hit Wayne Thompson with a 45-yard scoring pass for the first TD. Hickman threw a pass to Gene Hosey for the point after when the pass from center was wide.

In the final period, Claridon drove to the LaRue five-yard stripe before the attack bogged down. The Indians worked back out to midfield where with less than three minutes to go, Claridon intercepted a pass at the 20. Turning to the air, the Hornets scored when Warren Zachman hit Bud Price with a 40-yarder. Row dropkicked for the extra two points.

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus' Redmen rolled over a winless Crestline crew 39-19 here before a homecoming crowd Friday. Its first home win of the season, the win gave the winners a 2-5 mark in Northern Ohio League play.

Tom Smith returned the opening kickoff 75 yards down the sidelines and there was no stopping Bucyrus. Midway in the opening period, Bud Armstrong took a handoff from Glenn Butterman, quarterback, and scooted over from the 17. Smith intercepted a Jim Harbaugh pass at the Crestline 30 and turned it into another Bucyrus score. Smith converted. Just before the quarter ended, Butterman passed to Smith from the 20 and he covered the remaining 10 yards. Smith converted for a 26-0 quarter bulge

Early in the second quarter, Fred Frey went into the Crestline end zone again from the eight following a 40-yard drive and Smith converted for a 33-0 lead at the half.

Rams Seeking Revenge Over 49ers Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, rolling along in high gear atop the Western Division standings, will be out for revenge when they tangle with the neighboring San Francisco 49ers in Los Angeles tomorrow in the weekend's top National Football League game.

Earlier in the season, in San Francisco, the 49ers shaded the Rams 31-30 on a field goal in the last six seconds. Since then the Rams have won four in a row to bring their record to 5-1 San Francisco and the defending champion Detroit Lions are tied for second with four wins and two defeats.

Detroit pry's off the lid on the weekend slate by playing host to the Baltimore Colts tonight. Tomorrow's activity also lists Pittsburgh at Cleveland, New York at Philadelphia, the Chicago Cardinals at Washington and Green Bay at Chicago against the Bears.

Cleveland's mighty Browns, looking "better than ever," go after their seventh straight victory against the Steelers.

Joe Bach, the top Pittsburgh coach, said his scout reports show the "Browns now look better than ever and that Graham is better than any time he's been in this league."

Otto Graham, the Cleveland quarterback, leads the pro passers with 84 completions on 132 throws for 1 385 yards and five touchdowns—an average of 10 49 yards a flip

Asked if the Steelers had any way to stop Graham, Asst. Coach Edgar Jones laughed and then said

"Sure, knock hell out of Graham. About the best thing we can do . . . legally."

A huge turnout is expected at the coliseum when the California rivals get together. The game could develop into a passing contest between Los Angeles' Norm Van Brocklin and San Francisco's Y A. Tittle.

The 49ers, whose lone defeats were inflicted by the lions, can create a triple tie for the lead by beating the Rams, provided Detroit turns back Baltimore, as expected

The Lions-Colts game will be televised by the Du Mont Network to 22 Eastern and Midwestern cities. In their previous meeting Detroit was extended in downing the Colts 27-17 after Baltimore had led by 7 at halftime. The Colts, fourth in the Western Division, are 3-3.

Irish Close Home Season Tonight Against Madison

St Mary makes its final home performance tonight, seeking its sixth win in seven starts against a powerful Mansfield Madison.

The Irish are reportedly "up" for tonight's contest which finds them attempting to bounce back from last week's 13-7 upset by Carey.

Mansfield will also be trying to get back in the win column after having its undefeated skein broken last weekend by Bellville 13-6

Irish Coach Ray Robbins will probably use his regular starting lineup which includes Pat O'Connor and Don Shoemaker at the ends, John Kelly and Ed Quinn at the tackles, Jerry Ballenger and Bob Campton at the guards, and Jack Schnitzler at center

In the St Mary backfield it will be Roger Michelt quarterbacking, Larry Ryan at full, and either John Messenger or Ted Kilbury in the halfback slots.

If Bob Campton is benched with the groin injury which has kept him out of practice during the past week, either Dave Kraft or Chuck Mitchell will take his place

Tonight's game marks the seventh meeting of the two schools, a series in which Madison holds a 5-2 edge. The Irish downed the Rams 6-0 in 1940 and 7-6 in 1951.

The last St Mary victory was the last time Madison suffered a defeat on the road.

Prior to last Saturday Mansfield's record included a 7-7 tie with Ashland and wins over Crestline 39-0, Carey 27-6, Orrville 26-0, Loudonville 55-0 and Port Clinton 55-0.

The Irish knocked off Cardington 27-0, Lima St. Rose, 7-0, Mt. Gilead 36-0, Columbus St. Mary 20-0 and Richwood 55-6 before bowing to Carey last Friday in their worst showing to date.

Jerry Hammett and Paul Kovats are the men to watch in the Madison backfield They have rushing averages of 7 4 and 7 2, respectively and Hammett needs only 107 yards to rush a mile in his college career.

MSC Defense To Test Bucks' Passes, Power

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State pits its power and passing against Michigan State's speed and defensive know-how today, to determine which shall be sidetracked in the Western Conference championship and Rose Bowl races.

A crowd of more than 82,000 will crowd the Buckeye horseshoe as the two titans tangle, each hoping Michigan will mangle Illinois and let the winner into the king's row of the Big Ten.

Both teams have rebounded from defeat and are regarded as the top threats to snatch the league leadership and the Rose Bowl bid should unbeaten Illinois falter.

The Spartans and the Bucks go into the conflict with identical records Each has won three of four in the conference, Michigan State bowing 6-0 to Purdue and Ohio losing a 41-20 verdict to Illinois.

For the season each has a 5-1 record, the Spartans having scored 149 against 56 for the foe, while Ohio State has counted 148 points and allowed 110.

Waldo Wins 27-19 To Close Season

Keith Augenstein sparked Coach Ralph Weber's Waldo grid team to a 27-19 win over Marengo last night in the Double-M League. It was Waldo's third straight win after a slow start in league action.

Augenstein passed for three touchdowns and scored the fourth one himself on a line plunge One of the scores came on a 45-yard aerial to David Noe. Don Yake caught one pass for a score while George Yake took in the other one Two of the Marengo scores also came on passing with Jim Price handling the throwing.

The teams battled to a 7-7 tie in the first period 7-7. At the start of the final period the score was knotted at 13-13 but Augenstein filled the air with passes for the Waldo victory.

BOWLERS MUST BOWL

RICHFIELD, Utah (AP)—When the bowling alleys in this town of some 4,000 occupants were dismantled and removed from the community, the bowlers came up with a plan for the new season. They organized a mixed league of six teams and now travel 120 miles to springville, Utah every second Sunday to bowl a doubleheader session of six games.

Report Lauds Delaware City Administration

One of Four Covered In Examiners' Report; Bowling Green Scored

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Inspections of four Ohio cities by state examiners resulted in three winning general approval, but Bowling Green failed to make the grade.

Zanesville, Delaware and Barberton were praised today by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices for their records and administration. Only a few errors were detected in these communities.

The examiners reported that a new state law depriving mayors of court fees changed the Delaware mayor's office from one of the best paid public offices in the state to "just another job."

The mayor's salary at Delaware has been only $100 a month, but the fees last year of Mayor Murton F. Pinney averaged more than $900 a month, according to reports made public today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The examiners reported fines jumped from $23,248 07 in 1951 to $60,745.16 during the first 10 month of 1952 when the audit started. Pinney's fees totaled $9,142.15.

Both Pinney and a previous mayor, Ansel Lockhart, accounted strictly for all receipts and made proper distribution, the report states.

The report cited inefficient function of the various collecting agencies under the control of the director of service. All other branches of city government revealed strict compliance with statutes governing them, the examiners said.

At Bowling Green, the city's general fund showed a balance of $9,733.92 until a state examiner discovered the general fund owed $21,274.62 to the county, state and other city funds.

The examiner's report said Bowling Green depostied all highway patrol fines and other state fines in the city's general fund.

The report also cited Bowling Green for paying $43.719.27 for street repairs, snow removal, purchase of material and new equipment without authorization or direction by council.

Findings totaling $2,672.27 were returned against three Bowling Green councilmen who sold supplies to the city contrary to statute. And $11,495.07 in previous findings remain unpaid, the report said.

The audit at Bowling Green covered the period from Aug. 1, 1950 to Sept. 30, 1952.

Zanesville received compliments on city administration with the exception of the municipal court where examiners found things in a "state of confusion" due to improper bookkeeping.

Mild criticism was directed at the council's action in making lump sum appropriations for the Municipal Airport, auditorium and playgrounds commission, permitting funds to be overdrawn.

"While such emergency legislation may serve expediency," the report says, "it is not conducive of procuring the aggressive competition that might be obtained through advertsiements for bids with the possibility of more favorable prices."

The Zanesville examination covered the period from July 1, 1950, to May 30, 1952.

Mayo T. L. Parker and other city officials were highly praised for administrating Barberton's city business. The report covered June 1, 1949 to May 31, 1952.

TV CHANNEL REASSIGNED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission yesterday changed the TV channel assignment at Gallipolis, Ohio, from 18 to 72. Assignment of new TV channels to 35 other towns necessitated the change at Gallipolis.

2 DIE OF SKULL FRACTURES

CINCINNATI (AP)—John Schwartz, 63, an electrician, and Elmer Finke, 55, of Norwood, died yesterday from skull fractures. Schwartz fell down the steps at his home Tuesday. Finke was hit by two crates at his job.

New York Anniversary Marked by New Stamp

A three-cent stamp to commemorate the 300th anniversary of New York City will be on sale at the Marion post office after Nov. 21.

The stamp is being issued in conjunction with the three-day National Postage Stamp Show at the 71st Infantry Regiment Armory which is sponsored by the American Stamp Dealers Association. Some 110,000,000 of the stamps are to be printed in the initial order, Marion Postmaster Homer D. Cole said.

The overall design of the stamp is the artist's conception of the town of New Amsterdam during the period of its early settlement.

Parents Will Observe, Discuss School System

Parents of pupils of the Pleasant Township School will be "scholars" for a few hours Thursday night when they take their children's places in the classrooms at 8 o'clock to study "readin', writing' and 'rithmetic" as it is taught in 1953.

The meeting has been arranged to provide parents with an opportunity to observe school problems and discuss them with the school staff. Transportation will be by school buses.

Police Report Seven Traffic Mishaps Here

No Injuries Result But Many Vehicles Involved Are Damaged

Seven accidents were reported today by city police. All were investigated Friday, and no one was injured in any of them. State patrolmen reported no accident in Marion County.

An accident involving five cars happened at N. Main St. and Mill St. at 7:42 p.m. A car driven by Francis M. Warwick 38, of 339 Reed Ave. and one driven by Miss Barbara J. Unger of 793 E. Church St. collided at the intersection.

Miss Unger's car was knocked out of control, striking a railroad crossing gate guard and a parked car owned by Jack Palchette of Bucyrus. The car was parked on E. Mill St.

The impact of the crash pushed Palchette's car into another parked car owned by Alfred Curtis of near Marion. The Curtis car then struck a third parked car owned by Alfred Smith of 250 N. Grand Ave.

Damage to Autos

Minor damage was done to the front end of Warwick's car. The left and right sides and front end of Miss Unger's car were extensively damaged. After the fried chicken, acorn squash, bacon-flavored green beans and apple pie were suggested by a spokesman for the royal couple's Chicago reception committee, Mrs. Smith telephoned the queen's lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Mary Karaiou, and confirmed it.

The apple pie was a happy thought. Mrs. Smith has won nine first prizes with her pies at the Wheatland Fair.

Mrs. Smith's dress, she decided, would be a checked gingham which won her a sewing prize at Wheatland. George chose slacks, a dark shirt and a jacket because "you'd hardly choose a dress suit to wear while showing the King around the farm." It was Sunday best for the kids.

Youngsters Will Behave

"I didn't tell the youngsters what to do or say," Mrs. Smith said. "They know they must behave."

Young Kent, who said he thought at first that the visitors were a new hired man and his wife, told a reporter he would sell the royal couple one of his rabbits, if they are in the market.

Bucyrus Election Workers Overlook Township Ballots

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — L. T. Kinnett, chairman of the Crawford County Board of Elections, announced here today that failure of about 80 persons to receive township ballots at Precinct 3-A in Bucyrus at Tuesday's election was the fault of precinct election workers.

The precinct workers failed to remove the township ballots from the supply kit, Kinnett said, and the oversight was not discovered until about 80 persons had voted. All but two of the 80 were contacted by telephone but precinct workers said they did not know how many returned to fill out the township ballot.

Attorney General C. William O'Neill ruled that C. F. Stuckman, who received 2,129 votes, and Raymond Shroll, who tallied 1,639, were winners of the two trustee vacancies. A third candidate, H. S. Carmean, who has been a trustee many years, got 1,622 votes.

naming White as a member of a spy ring, had been made available to Truman.

Truman denounced the whole Brownell presentation as a "desperate" political move after Republican election losses last Tuesday in New York City and New Jersey.

Truman put his reaction this way:

"Apparently the Republicans have adopted the tactics of Sen. McCarthy as a desperation move . . . It doesn't matter what they do, they can't breathe life into a corpse and they know it. . . .

"They'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else, to accomplish their purpose. They're scared. They're desperate."

Truman said that "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him"—a statement which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty challenged as "not true."

Hagerty said White resigned in 1947 as executive director for the United States on the International Monetary Fund. He quoted from a letter Truman wrote White accepting the resignation "with sincere regret."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

It is not to be expected that any effort to eliminate an unnecessary cost to the taxpayer will meet with no opposition. In private industry, reorganizations constantly take place to reduce costs or to increase efficiency, or both.

SOKOLSKY

The obsolescent is abolished as rapidly as possible. When such measures are taken in government, the outcry is immediate and articulate, because office-holders hate to lose their jobs and always find friends to fight for them.

The Hoover Commission has run upon the fact that jobs, once established for a good purpose, continue after their usefulness has totally disappeared.

Nevertheless appointments are made, salaries and expense allowances are drawn. These men actually have nothing to do but to get their pay.

IN THE MATTER of the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, which had been permitted to grow into a behemoth, President Eisenhower sent Plan No. 2 to Congress, which was accepted by Congress and is now the law.

The department gave those who favored or opposed the reorganization plan until November 1 to state their views. This has been done and the plan has now been put into effect.

The argument concerning it continues because there is nothing in it about which someone has not a better plan. That is human nature.

One of the phases of the reorganization plan of the department has to do with the Soil Conservation Service, an activity of the States in which the federal government participates in an advisory capacity.

For about 18 years, the federal government has maintained regional offices which provided a supervisory service and administration of state programs. The idea was that the Department of Agriculture could do the job better than State Soil Conservation Departments could.

WHETHER that was ever true is one of those arguments that can go on forever and prove nothing.

That most States are now prepared to do their own jobs efficiently after 18 years of federal tutelage is generally admitted. Therefore the time has come to abolish the regional offices of the Soil Conservation Service because their utility has now diminished to a point where they are no longer needed.

Their abolition will save some money without impairing any service.

Actually, as of March 1, 1953, farmers and ranchers had organized 2,481 soil conservation districts.

In a word, the job of soil conservation is being done as a cooperative voluntary enterprise, within each State.

SECRETARY BENSON takes the position that ours is not a totalitarian government and that what the people or the States can do for themselves, the federal government ought not to duplicate at great expense. He said of this:

"The conservation and improvement of our land and water resources is primarily the responsibility of the farmer, the rancher, and the custodians of forest land.

"It is important that farmers band together in local soil conservation districts and watershed associations, and that they take the initiative in protecting and developing our agricultural resources. Agriculture can go forward confidently in such locally directed soil conservation districts."

The opposition to this reorganization plan seems to be based on the argument that a government bureau once established should never be abolished.

THIS IS NOT a novel idea, as the Hoover Commission has discovered, finding many agencies of government which exist to duplicate and triplicate work done by other agencies and by the States.

There are about half a dozen hospital services in the federal government, for instance. These could be joined into one service to great advantage and saving.

If the objective of the reorganization of the executive branch of government is to eliminate the duplicative and the obsolescent, the supervisory offices of the Soil Conservation Service should be abolished and the state conservationists should be permitted to do their work with due regard to the maturity which they have achieved since 1935 when all this started as a phase of flood control.

Herbert Hoover, in a telegram to Secretary Benson, said:

"Your plans of reorganization are along the lines of the recommendations of the task force of agriculturists . . . They have been exhaustively debated since and favored by most of the substantial elements concerned . . . If displaced officials are to counteract reorganization for economy and efficiency in the government, all of us may as well throw up our hands."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There has been a series of secret talks in New York City between the AFL and the old Longshoremen's Union it expelled so dramatically at its past convention in St. Louis. The expulsion came after a long, but futile defense by the aging Joe Ryan against charges of ILA racketeering in the huge New York Port.

RIESEL

These sessions, which were held in a private home in Brooklyn to keep them a tight secret, were not attended by the husky Paul Hall, the Seafarers' chief, who has been one of the driving forces behind the attack on the old International Longshoremen's Assn.

However, those who did sit in these small meetings, which ran from four to six hours each, were authorized to speak for the ousted dockwallopers on one side and some of the AFL's top men charged with wiping the old ILA off the docks of the nation on the other.

THEIR LAST SESSION, a four-hour confab, adjourned early in the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 3. It was at this parley that a final peace formula was developed. Whether it will be acceptable to the AFL leaders in Washington, no one can yet report.

However, here is the proposed formula for readmission of the purged union to the AFL —

Joe Ryan, now a very sick man, would be retired on a $10,000-a-year lifetime pension during the week of Nov. 16 at the ILA's convention in Philadelphia. He is to get this payment guaranteed in written contractual form—something he has insisted upon for months.

RYAN WOULD be succeeded by the chunky tugboatmen's leader, Capt. William Bradley. The AFL's emissaries have absolutely told the old ILA leaders that they believe Bradley is clean and that they are willing to take him as president of the new union.

Representatives of the ousted waterfront outfit were told by the AFL's envoys that the union would have to clean house swiftly. It would need to reform locals, observe constitutions, hold meetings and kept accurate financial records.

The AFL's people also said that it would not be necessary to oust all officials with criminal records. Only those now in the mobs would have to be deposed.

This was acceptable to the two spokesmen for the old longshoremen's organization Tuesday night they told the AFL's man that the expelled union was willing to set up a screening committee to pass on the fitness of officials.

And that they were willing to rid the union of its worst elements. No names were mentioned.

THAT'S THE STATUS of negotiations now in a tense situation which might yet blow skyhigh into a bloody waterfront war.

This knockdown fight, which might cost lives and certainly would paralyze some of our most vital ports, will be avoided if the coming conferences with the higher AFL echelons in Washington are as friendly as those in Brooklyn.

However, if the AFL does finally reject the formula and the tentative agreement reached in New York City, the old ILA may still wind up as part of a powerful labor coalition.

Capt. Bradley has had at least three conferences with John L. Lewis in the United Mine Workers national headquarters in Washington. That is an absolute fact.

The white-haired giant of the coal fields has shown great interest in the ousted longshoremen. He would like to absorb them in his catch-all District 50 for many reasons.

First, they total some 60,000 waterfront workers and Lewis already has some tugboat and dockside unions under his jurisdiction.

THEN, LEWIS HATES AFL president George Meany with a passion which in the past has cut down many a powerful opponent, even in the White House.

Absorption of the longshoremen would give Lewis a broader field—at a moment when he still talks and dreams of a coalition of labor men who would compete with both Meany and Walter Reuther, who run neck-and-neck on John L.'s hate list.

And John Lewis, with a $55,000,000 treasury, has the money and power to take on any tough element that resists the cleansing of the docks. Lewis' miners are not exactly short on muscle if it comes to that kind of showdown.

It's evident that once Lewis' personality, thunder-voiced speeches and rapier moves are thrown into the fight, he could beat the mobs and give the AFL a run for its money.

But for the moment at least, there is more scotch and soda than blood flowing in the much-hearalded waterfront war.

stoppage throughout Italy during the funeral.

In Rome, thousands of angry students again staged a violent anti-British demonstration around the British Embassy. At least two police and several rioters reportedly were injured before the club-wielding riot cops broke up the mob with a tear gas barrage.

Another bitter battle erupted in front of the British consulate in Bari, southeastern Italian port city. Fifteen police and 20 students were injured before the fighting was quelled.

In Trieste itself, the situation was still grim and tense although the city began a return to work after a general strike yesterday.

The 7,000 British and American occupation troops were on the alert with a possibility of martial law if rioting breaks out again.

City authorities, however, appealed for peace.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry, during conferences with the British and American envoys, reportedly demanded an early five-power conference on settlement of the Trieste issue and an end of "attempts by the Italian government to fulfill its unjust aims by terrorist methods."

are adopted the Swiss would "be forced" to reconsider their mandate to sit on the commission.

He demanded that:

1. Indian chairmen of NNRC subcommittees which oversee the interviews be empowered to halt any session if Communist persuaders violate the prisoner's rights under the Geneva Convention.

2. The Communists interview in one day all prisoners they call to the explanation area.

Observers here said it appeared probable the Swiss would be able to win approval of the rule changes Monday, with support from the Swedes and Indians.

However, there was speculation that this would lead to a walkout by pro-Communist Czech and Polish commission members.

Meanwhile, staff advisers took over from top Communist and Allied diplomats the job of setting up an agenda for talks to arrange a Korean peace conference.

The advisers, meeting in a hut in the Korean neutral zone near here, will talk secretly in an attempt to crack the deadlock which has threatened to torpedo the peace conference.

Gen. Thimayya said Friday night the explanations to anti-Red Koreans and Chinese probably will end Monday unless the Reds agree to interview entire 500-man compounds in one day or skip entirely those prisoners who are not interviewed.

Seven accidents were reported today by city police. All were investigated Friday, and no one was injured in any of them. State patrolmen reported no accident in Marion County.

Miss Unger's car was knocked out of control, striking a railroad crossing gate guard and a parked car owned by Jack Palchette of Bucyrus. The car was parked on E. Mill St.

The impact of the crash pushed Palchette's car into another parked car owned by Alfred Curtis of near Marion. The Curtis car then struck a third parked car owned by Alfred Smith of 250 N. Grand Ave.

After the fried chicken, acorn squash, bacon-flavored green beans and apple pie were suggested by a spokesman for the royal couple's Chicago reception committee, Mrs. Smith telephoned the queen's lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Mary Karalou, and confirmed it.

The apple pie was a happy thought. Mrs. Smith has won nine first prizes with her pies at the Wheatland Fair.

Mrs. Smith's dress, she decided, would be a checked gingham which won her a sewing prize at Wheatland. George chose slacks, a dark shirt and a jacket because "you'd hardly choose a dress suit to wear while showing the King around the farm." It was Sunday best for the kids.

Youngsters Will Behave

"I didn't tell the youngsters what to do or say," Mrs. Smith said, "They know they must behave."

Young Kent, who said he thought at first that the visitors were a new hired man and his wife, told a reporter he would sell the royal couple one of his rabbits, if they are in the market.

Bucyrus Election Workers Overlook Township Ballots

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — L. T. Kinnett, chairman of the Crawford County Board of Elections, announced here today that failure of about 80 persons to receive township ballots at Precinct 3-A in Bucyrus at Tuesday's election was the fault of precinct election workers.

The precinct workers failed to remove the township ballots from the supply kit, Kinnett said, and the oversight was not discovered until about 80 persons had voted. All but two of the 80 were contacted by telephone but precinct workers said they did not know how many returned to fill out the township ballot.

Attorney General C. William O'Neill ruled that C. F. Stuckman, who received 2,129 votes, and Raymond Shroll, who tallied 1,639, were winners of the two trustee vacancies. A third candidate, H. S. Carmean, who has been a trustee many years, got 1,622 votes.

naming White as a member of a spy ring, had been made available to Truman.

Truman denounced the whole Brownell presentation as a "desperate" political move after Republican election losses last Tuesday in New York City and New Jersey.

Truman put his reaction this way:

"Apparently the Republicans have adopted the tactics of Sen. McCarthy as a desperation move ... It doesn't matter what they do, they can't breathe life into a corpse and they know it ...

"They'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else, to accomplish their purpose. They're scared. They're desperate."

Truman said that "as soon as we found out White was wrong we fired him"—a statement which White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty challenged as "not true."

Hagerty said White resigned in 1947 as executive director for the United States on the International Monetary Fund. He quoted from a letter Truman wrote White accepting the resignation "with sincere regret."

These Days

By George Sokolsky

It is not to be expected that any effort to eliminate an unnecessary cost to the taxpayer will meet with no opposition. In private industry, reorganizations constantly take place to reduce costs or to increase efficiency, or both.

SOKOLSKY

The obsolescent is abolished as rapidly as possible. When such measures are taken in government, the outcry is immediate and articulate, because office-holders hate to lose their jobs and always find friends to fight for them.

The Hoover Commission has run upon the fact that jobs, once established for a good purpose, continue after their usefulness has totally disappeared.

Nevertheless appointments are made, salaries and expense allowances are drawn. These men actually have nothing to do but to get their pay.

IN THE MATTER of the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, which had been permitted to grow into a behemoth, President Eisenhower sent Plan No. 2 to Congress, which was accepted by Congress and is now the law.

The department gave those who favored or opposed the reorganization plan until November 1 to state their views. This has been done and the plan has now been put into effect.

The argument concerning it continues because there is nothing in it about which someone has not a better plan. That is human nature.

One of the phases of the reorganization plan of the department has to do with the Soil Conservation Service, an activity of the States in which the federal government participates in an advisory capacity.

For about 18 years, the federal government has maintained regional offices which provided a supervisory service and administration of state programs. The idea was that the Department of Agriculture could do the job better than State Soil Conservation Departments could.

WHETHER that was ever true is one of those arguments that can go on forever and prove nothing.

That most States are now prepared to do their own jobs efficiently after 18 years of federal tutelage is generally admitted. Therefore the time has come to abolish the regional offices of the Soil Conservation Service because their utility has now diminished to a point where they are no longer needed.

Their abolition will save some money without impairing any service.

Actually, as of March 1, 1953, farmers and ranchers had organized 2,481 soil conservation districts.

In a word, the job of soil conservation is being done as a cooperative voluntary enterprise within each State.

THE SECRETARY has taken the position that ours is not a totalitarian government and that what the people or the States can do for themselves, the federal government ought not to duplicate at great expense. He said of this:

"The conservation and improvement of our land and water resources is primarily the responsibility of the farmer, the rancher, and the custodians of forest land."

"It is important that farmers band together in local soil conservation districts and watershed associations, and that they take the initiative in protecting and developing our agricultural resources. Agriculture can go forward confidently in such locally directed soil conservation districts."

The opposition to this reorganization plan seems to be based on the argument that a government bureau once established should never be abolished.

THIS IS NOT a novel idea, as the Hoover Commission has discovered, finding many agencies of government which exist to duplicate and triplicate work done by other agencies and by the States.

There are about half a dozen hospital services in the federal government, for instance. These could be joined into one service to great advantage and saving.

If the objective of the reorganization of the executive branch of government is to eliminate the duplicative and the obsolescent, the supervisory offices of the Soil Conservation Service should be abolished and the state conservationists should be permitted to do their work with due regard to the maturity which they have achieved since 1935 when all this started as a phase of flood control.

Herbert Hoover, in a telegram to Secretary Benson, said:

"Your plans of reorganization [illegible] recommendations of the task force of agriculturists . . They have been exhaustively debated since and favored by most of the substantial elements concerned . If displaced officials are to counteract reorganization for economy and efficiency in the government, all of us may as well throw up our hands."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There has been a series of secret talks in New York City between the AFL and the old Longshoremen's Union it expelled so dramatically at its past convention in St. Louis. The expulsion came after a long, but futile defense by the aging Joe Ryan against charges of ILA racketeering in the huge New York Port.

RIESEL

These sessions, which were held in a private home in Brooklyn to keep them a tight secret, were not attended by the husky Paul Hall, the Seafarers' chief, who has been one of the driving forces behind the attack on the old International Longshoremen's Assn.

However, those who did sit in these small meetings, which ran from four to six hours each, were authorized to speak for the ousted dockwallopers on one side and some of the AFL's top men charged with wiping the old ILA off the docks of the nation on the other.

THEIR LAST SESSION, a four-hour confab, adjourned early in the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 3. It was at this parley that a final peace formula was developed. Whether it will be acceptable to the AFL leaders in Washington, no one can yet report.

However, here is the proposed formula for readmission of the purged union to the AFL:—

Joe Ryan, now a very sick man, would be retired on a $10,000-a-year lifetime pension during the week of Nov. 16 at the ILA's convention in Philadelphia. He is to get this payment guaranteed in written contractual form—something he has insisted upon for months.

RYAN WOULD be succeeded by the chunky tugboatmen's leader, Capt. William Bradley. The AFL's emissaries have absolutely told the old ILA leaders that they believe Bradley is clean and that they are willing to take him as president of the new union.

Representatives of the ousted waterfront outfit were told by the AFL's envoys that the union would have to clean house swiftly. It would need to reform locals, observe consitutions, hold meetings and kept accurate financial records.

The AFL's people also said that it would not be necessary to oust all officials with criminal records. Only those now in the mobs would have to be deposed.

This was acceptable to the two spokesmen for the old longshoremen's organization, Tuesday night they told the AFL's man that the expelled union was willing to set up a screening committee to pass on the fitness of officials.

And that they were willing to rid the union of its worst elements. No names were mentioned.

THAT'S THE STATUS of negotiations now in a tense situation which might yet blow skyhigh into a bloody waterfront war.

This knockdown fight, which might cost lives and certainly would paralyze some of our most vital ports, will be avoided if the coming conferences with the higher AFL echelons in Washington are as friendly as those in Brooklyn.

However, if the AFL does finally reject the formula and the tentative agreement reached in New York City, the old ILA may still wind up as part of a powerful labor coalition.

Capt. Bradley has had at least three conferences with John L. Lewis in the United Mine Workers national headquarters in Washington. That is an absolute fact.

The white haired giant of the coal fields has shown great interest in the ousted longshoremen. He would like to absorb them in his catch-all District 50 for many reasons.

First, they total some 60,000 waterfront workers and Lewis already has some tugboat and dockside unions under his jurisdiction.

THEN, LEWIS HATES AFL president George Meany with a passion which in the past has cut down many a powerful opponent, even in the White House.

Absorption of the longshoremen would give Lewis a broader field—at a moment when he still talks and dreams of a coalition of labor men who would compete with both Meany and Walter Reuther, who run neck-and-neck on John L.'s hate list.

And John Lewis, with a $55,000,000 treasury, has the money and power to take on any tough element that resists the cleansing of the docks. Lewis' miners are not exactly short on muscle if it comes to that kind of showdown.

It is evident that once Lewis' personality, thunder-voiced speeches and rapier moves are thrown into the fight, he could beat the mobs and give the AFL a run for its money.

But for the moment at least, there is more scotch and soda than blood flowing in the much-hearalded waterfront war.

stoppage throughout Italy during the funeral.

In Rome, thousands of angry students again staged a violent anti-British demonstration around the British Embassy. At least two police and several rioters reportedly were injured before the club-wielding riot cops broke up te mob with a tear gas barrage.

Another bitter battle erupted in front of the British consulate in Bari, southeastern Italian port city. Fifteen police and 20 students were injured before the fighting was quelled.

In Trieste itself, the situation was still grim and tense although the city began a return to work after a general strike yesterday.

The 7,000 British and American occupation troops were on the alert with a possibility of martial law if rioting breaks out again.

City authorities, however, appealed for peace.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav Foreign Ministry, during conferences with the British and American envoys, reportedly demanded an early five-power conference on settlement of the Trieste issue and an end of "attempts by the Italian government to fulfill its unjust aims by terrorist methods."

are adopted the Swiss would "be forced" to reconsider their mandate to sit on the commission.

He demanded that:

1. Indian chairmen of NNRC subcommittees which oversee the interviews be empowered to halt any session if Communist persuaders violate the prisoner's rights under the Geneva Convention.

2. The Communists interview in one day all prisoners they call to the explanation area.

Observers here said it appeared probable the Swiss would be able to win approval of the rule changes Monday, with support from the Swedes and Indians.

However, there was speculation that this would lead to a walkout by pro-Communist Czech and Polish commission members.

Meanwhile, staff advisers took over from top Communist and Allied diplomats the job of setting up an agenda for talks to arrange a Korean peace conference.

The advisers, meeting in a hut in the Korean neutral zone near here, will talk secretly in an attempt to crack the deadlock which has threatened to torpedo the peace conference.

Gen. Thimayya said Friday night the explanations to anti-Red Koreans and Chinese probably will end Monday unless the Reds agree to interview entire 500-man compounds in one day or skip entirely those prisoners who are not interviewed.

Anthracite Called Cheap Fuel

Experts Say Advantages Of Coal Heat Neglected

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Oil, gas and electricity have enjoyed so much ballyhoo lately as home heating fuels that the advantages of coal, used in millions of established homes, seem to have been sadly neglected.

Many people seem to have the notion that you can't have a neatly finished basement and that you can't have automatic heat if you burn coal. They have this notion because they have never seen automatic stokers and ash removers in operation — feding anthracite into modern home heating plants and vacuuming out the ashes.

The Anthracite Industry Committee, comprising representatives of 22 producing companies, tells us that more than five million homes are now heated with hard coal and that automatic equipment is heating the average dwelling at less cost than competitive fuels in 90 per cent of the anthracite marketing area. In some areas the use of hard coal chalks up savings of 40 per cent.

So the use of coal in home heating is something for the prospective home builder to investigate as well as something for the coal user to continue to consider.

AN INTERESTING architectural development which has come about through the use of automatic stokers is an underground coal bin removed from the basement, similar to underground oil tanks which are required by law in many communities.

These bins are build on a slant toward the stoker. The coal truck pulls up to the curb in front of the house. A metal hatch is opened and the anthracite is poured into the underground storage.

This system makes hard coal one of the cleanest of all fuels. Since it burns with a blue flame, it does not smoke or create excessive soot. The anthracite committee says it is being specified more and more for civic cleanliness by smoke abatement and anti-air-pollution authorities.

THERE'S A LOT to that cleanliness feature of stoker-fed hard coal. In contrast, a reader-recently wrote to this department about an oil mess he had on his hands. A small 275-gallon oil tank in his basment sprang a leak and ruined his floor covering of asphalt tile before the mishap was discovered. Since his house was less than three years old, could the builder who supplied and installed the tank be held responsible for the damage? It is doubtful that you could find any builder standing back of his job more than for a short time after title has passed.

—:—

THE ANTHRACITE industry is now putting on quite a campaign to keep people from forgetting about hard coal. Statistics are being compiled showing less incidence of fire or explosion in homes heated with this fuel. Another study is designed to show less likelihood of respiratory illness among children under 16 and adults over 60 in anthracite heated homes.

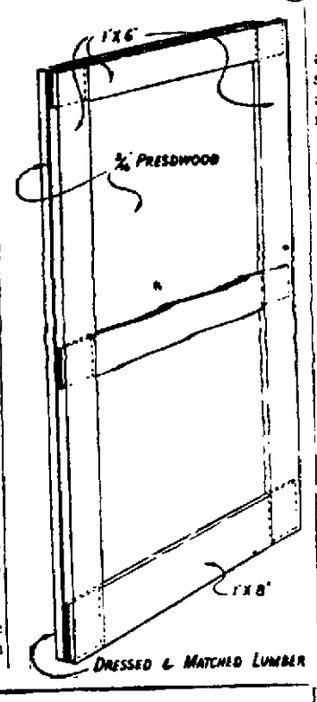
The latter probably is based on the constant heat provided by a coal fire in contrast to on-and-off intermittent heat which tends to create cold air pockets in a house.

Well, it is interesting to know that one ton of hard coal provides the same heat value as 176.8 gallons of fuel oil, 46.750 cubic feet of manufactured gas, or 24.760 cubic feet of natural gas.

And it's comforting to know that reserves of anthracite are supposed to be good for more than 150 years.

Death of the husband or wife ends about 660,000 marriages in the United States each year.

Plan for Sag-Proof Door



By The Associated Press

Sag-proof doors are best appreciated on a farm, in workshop or darkroom partitions or any place a home handyman is making alterations.

Here is a scheme for a door which always will remain square.

The framework, if the door is not to be larger than 4 by 8 feet, should be 1x6-inch lumber for the top and two sides and 1x8-inch lumber for the bottom. Heavier lumber is needed for larger doors.

The secret of making this frame sag-proof is to use 3-16-inch tempered pressed wood as a core. This material is so rigid and strong that it supplies the no-sag ingredient. It also makes possible the use of lighter framing members.

As illustrated, the framework is halved at the corners and at the intersection of cross-members. After the framework is assembled, the tempered pressed wood is nailed in place. Over the hardboard panel is nailed the exterior of the door — either dressed and matched flooring of car siding. In either case, the boards are nailed vertically through the hardboard to the framework.

For longer life, both sides of the door should be given a prime coat of good quality paint and two finish coats.

TOPS MORROW SCORES

CHESTERVILLE—Frank Spies, junior in the Chesterville School and son of Chesterville Superintendent, W. G. Spies, scored high in the county on a history test given by Ohio University at Athens. He scored 79 out of a possible 100.

About 3,726 high school pupils in the state took the test with 81 the highest score in the state. At Chesterville others scoring in the test were Duane Rogers who scored with the upper five per cent in the state.

Thirty-two real estate transfers were recorded in the office of Marion County Recorder Arthur L. Watt during the week from Oct. 26 through Oct. 31.

Two easements were also recorded during the week. They were to the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. by John T. Jones in Big Island Township and to the Marion Water Co. by William C. Kimball and others in Marion Township.

SENTENCED IN FINDLAY

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Common Pleas Judge A. V. Baumann Wednesday sentenced Joseph E. Kirchner of Findlay to 2-20 years in Ohio Penitentiary for bribery. He fined him some $3,000 for illegal sale of horsemeat. Kirchner, head of the Kay Brand Packing Co., was fined $5,800 and sentenced to consecutive 1-10 year terms on 28 bribery counts last spring. An appeals court ordered a retrial on a technicality. Kirchner then pleaded guilty.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

About 90 per cent of all the homes in this country have wood sash of the double-hung type. In other words, there is an upper and a lower sash which slide up and down between wood strips. As the sash themselves, the strips and the window casing or frame are made of wood, there is a certain amount of shrinkage as the house ages and the result is a loose fit between the various parts of the window assembly. Naturally, the amount of shrinkage depends upon the kind of wood used in manufacturing the unit and the amount of care and skill used in putting it together.

After a year or so, the average window will become quite loose, even to the point of rattling in a windstorm or allowing rain to drive through along the sides and at the bottom. Actually, the open crevices around the loose window, according to the best authority, are equal to a four-by-four-inch opening. You might just as well have a four - inch square opening cut out of one of the glass panes as have a very loose window.

There is more than one way to overcome this difficulty. The outer and inner strips can be lifted off and reset closer to the sliding sash, thus making a tight fit again. But this job is liable to result in a window which is hard to operate. The other method is to install weatherstrip all around the sash. This can be wood strip with a rubber fin along the edge, rubber strip in rounded shape with a feather edge for tacking in place or the economical felt strip selling for a few cents a foot.

Either of the types must be set so that it rubs gently against the sash. It should be stretched to make a smooth job. The weatherstripping must be tacked along the sides of the frame and to the sash itself along the top of the upper half of the window and to the bottom edge of the lower sash. This is done to prevent interference when closing the window.

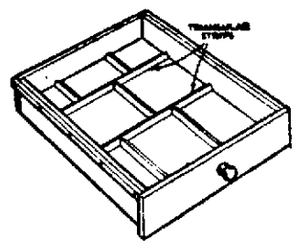
Make Do



DRAWER PARTITIONS for storing small items neatly can be made with triangular wood strips, nailed, glued, or screwed to the drawer bottom. Small items slide easily up the sloping faces of the strips, instead of catching in corners.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: I have a problem in refinishing old furniture. After the old varnish is removed and the wood is clean I apply spar varnish but each time the varnish dries with bubbles in it. I even try heating the varnish in hot water as some one suggested. Can you advise how I can overcome this condition?

A: Frequently bubbles appear in varnish because the person using it shakes the can, being under the impression that this procedure is necessary. Another reason for the bubbles is that the varnish is applied with vigorous and careless strokes. The proper procedure is to dip the brush to half the length of the bristles, shake off the excess lightly, then apply in straight parallel strokes. The brush is stroked over the same place to carry the finish forward spreading the varnish thin. Repeat the stroking until the brushful has been evenly distributed. Never brush crossways.

Q: We have an enclosed porch and last fall we paneled three walls with knotty pine. Recently we have finished the fourth wall with pine and find that the three walls done previously are much darker than the one we just finished. Is there anything we could do to make all the wood the same color before we apply the finish?

A: To bring up a clean and new wood surface, the old paneling will have to be sandpapered. First use a number one sandpaper, then smooth the wood by rubbing with "000" sandpaper. To make the job easier, wrap the sandpaper around a block of wood, or you could use a portable sanding machine, which can be rented. Be sure to wipe off all the dust with turpentine before you apply any wood finishing material.

Q: A few years ago a sink was installed on the second floor. It was necessary to run the pipes down through the first floor hall to keep them from freezing. The walls of the hall are going to be coated with a texture paint and I would like to cover the pipes with wood or whatever might be the least expensive, and then apply the paint. I do not want to make a box around the pipes, but would like to put one board across the corner. What will I nail it to?

A: You will have to install two-by-fours fastened to the floor and ceiling. If the sheet is to be a large one, two-by-four at the top and bottom will be necessary so that all edges of the board will be properly fastened. I think the most suitable material to use would be gypsum wallboard (plasterboard). The surface of such a board will provide a good base for the texture paint.

Farm Bureau's Yearly Meeting Set Wednesday

Larry Brandon, farm organization leader from Indiana, will be the main speaker at the annual meeting of the Marion County Farm Bureau to be held at Claridon School Wednesday night.

Bandon is a retired farmer who spent several terms in the Indiana state senate and was executive secretary of the Indiana Farm Bureau Cooperative Association.

Several items of business will be before the members Wednesday.

One is a proposal to amend the code of regulations of the organization to permit a larger board of trustees. The proposal would increase the number of trustees from 13 to 16, with one director being chosen from each of the 15 townships, and one elected at large. The trustee elected at large would represent the organized youth activities of the Farm Bureau in the county.

The group will also elect directors, choose official delegates to the Ohio Federation of Farm Bureaus, and adopt of policy resolutions to guide the 1954 program.

Music will be furnished by the music department of the school. Refreshments will be served by members of the Greenville Treaty Line advisory council of the local Bureau. The meeting is open to the public, but only dues-paying members are eligible to vote.

LINEMAN KILLED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gerald Ankrom of Columbus, 25-year-old high tension lineman for the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co., was killed yesterday in a fall from a utility pole.

Marion Charter Group To Meet

Officers To Be Named At Session on Monday

Organizational meeting of the 15-member city charter commission elected by Marion voters Tuesday will be held at the YMCA at 6 30 p.m. Monday.

Called by J. E. Oliphant, chairman of the Non-Partisan Home Rule Charter Study Committee which led the campaign for formation of the commission, the purpose of the meeting will be to select a chairman and other officers of the commission.

Following selection of the commission officers the work of the study committee will be completed.

Between Monday and at least a month prior to the election next November, the commission must draw up a charter for a form of city government it believes is best suited to Marion's needs.

Determination of the specific form will likely be made on the basis of intensive study, public meetings, and conferences with city officials both in Marion and in other cities of similar size.

Under Ohio law, whatever charter plan is proposed by the commission must be presented to the voters at least 30 days prior to the election next November. The law requires also that this presentation must be made by mailing one copy of the proposed charter to each voter who was registered for this year's election.

Members of the charter commission are Walter D. Moore, Lawrence M. Sager, Dr. Frederick Merchant, Robert Kibby, Max Birnbaum, John J Wissler, H. Francis McDaniel, Carl F. Haberman, George Jonsson, Mary K. Birch, Perry Batchelder, Henry Mickley, Robert Bush, Edith Brown, and Roy Waddell.

Junior High Pupils Invited To Party at Y

"Sadie Hawkins Day" will be the theme for tonight when the Edison Junior High School Tri-Hi-Y entertains with a party open to all junior high school age young people of the city. The event will be held in the youth center at the new YMCA. This is a new project undertaken by the Edison group to provide wholesome entertainment for students on a week-end night not taken up by school interests. The time will be 7:30 to 10.

Those attending are to arrive at the party dressed in farm clothes or as mountaineers. It is not necessary to come as couples for this party, it was stressed. There will be a variety of music, circle, and folk games, directed by Mrs. Evelyn Redman, a teacher of junior high school music classes. An extensive list of adults as chaperons has been invited to attend.

This group will include Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whittington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Augenstein, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wolf, Mrs. Dorotha Thomas, Mrs. Esther Thurston, Mrs. Edwin Price, and Mrs. Evelyn Clay. Advisors are Mrs. H. W. Jacobs, Mrs. M. A. Hendel, Miss Betty Houser, Miss Marilyn Blass, and Marvin Ludwig.

Committees of Hi-Y members are composed of Beverly Whittington, Seroba Porter, Carolyn Robinson, and Mary Barkley, tickets; Janice Young, Joan Clay and Rosie Crouso, refreshments; Cynthia Snow, Barbara Hale, Shirley Moore and Thena Utley, check room; Sandra Jenkins and Carolyn Robinson, publicity; Judy Speck, Judy Augenstein, Virginia Milliron, and Cathy Curtis, cleanup; and Sally Faust, Judy A Thomas, and Sondra Coon, co-ordination.

Indians Don't Want Liquor On Reservation

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Now that New Mexico's Indians can have a sociable drink at home, they don't want it.

Although it's been almost two months since the state lifted its ban against sale of liquor to the tribesmen, the 19 pueblo, 2 Apache reservations and 3 Navajo communities still haven't okayed use of liquor on tribal land.

And officials say they don't expect them to do so.

Federal bans were lifted months ago, permitting states to decide if liquor could be sold to Indians within their boundaries. New Mexico lifted its restriction Sept. 15 in a state constitutional elections, so Indians in this state now can buy liquor at a bar.

But tribal officials apparently are satisfied with things as they were at home.

"Repeal of the law does not automatically teach people to drink moderately."

Thats the way Merle Garcia, "sheriff" of Acoma pueblo, the "sky city" built atop a cliff-ringed mesa west of Albuquerque, looks at it.

At Taos pueblo, Councilman Manuel Cordova said:

"We want to protect the life that belongs to the Indian, because that life is the most important thing. A man should drink good water to live a long time—and not other things which make him a maniac wanting to fight."

Tension Grows As Philippines Election Nears

MANILA (AP)—Feverish political tension gripped the Philippines today as candidates delivered closing arguments to voters who will pick a president and congressmen Tuesday.

There was strong possibility that a new leader may emerge from the hard-fought campaign.

Former Defense Secretary Ramon Magsaysay, 46-year-old fighter against Communists, generally was conceded an even chance of victory over his 62-year-old opponent, President Elpidio Quirino.

Magsaysay, concentrating on the Manila area vote, said in a "meet the press" radio program last night that "if the elections are honest I will win by a million."

There are about 5,600,000 registered voters in the islands.

Quirino, stumping in his home precincts north of Manila, accused Magsaysay of favoring American intervention in the election and in the islands' political life generally.

Quirino said he did not believe the United States was intervening. But he accused his former Cabinet secretary of encouraging America to do so.

The U. S. Embassy here and the U. S. State Department in Washington have issued statements stressing a "hands-off" policy.

The islands resounded with talk of election violence, but there was less actual knife and gun play than four years ago when more than 50 persons died in pre-election political quarrels.

The axolotl, a salamander, eats more than its own weight in a single meal.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

'Scientific Sizing' Eyed for Clothing

WASHINGTON (UP) — Uncle Sam worried about the appearance of the American woman, has come up with a scientific method for making clothes fit better with fewer alterations.

The Commerce Department has submitted the "scientific sizing" method to the women's wear industry, for criticism and approval, and there's a good chance it may be in use by the time you buy next fall's clothes.

The department says the system does not mean that all women will be able to buy clothes or dressmaking patterns which fit perfectly, but at least the bulk of alterations will be eliminated

Now, for instance, there is one misses' size 14 Unless you are a "perfect" 14, alterations are needed Under the department s system, you could buy any one of nine variations of the size, depending on whether your height is regular, tall or short, and whether your hips are regular, full or slender

Department officials say it will eliminate a lot of troubles for women who now find themselves faced with the choice of buying a dress that is either too narrow in the hips or too full across the bust Teenagers will find is easier to buy dresses that fit their growing bosoms and hips but aren't too large around their cherished waistlines And older women with that 'middle-age" spread will find it easier to buy dresses that allow for that girth and aren't too big above and below it.

Corn Used To Lure Nine Peacocks Back to Pens

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Nine peacocks, unhappy over their living conditions in the enclosure formerly used by anteaters, pulled a wildcat walkout at the Buffalo Zoo recently.

Curator Joseph A. Abgott said the dispute was settled by keepers who lured the birds by spreading corn to their cages.

Don't Scratch Itching Spots, Physicians Warn

CHICAGO (UP) — If you itch, don't scratch, a doctor warns.

Itching may be caused by anything from dandruff to diabetes, and it can spread or camouflage real trouble if you scratch, according to Dr Joseph D Wassersug, of Quincy, Mass

"Doctors may disagree on many points regarding the nature or treatment of itching skin diseases," he wrote in Today's Health "But on one point they are unanimous Don't scratch '"
